Judge, Superior Court of North Carolina

Mr. Speaker Blue approaches the dais and makes the following remarks:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the House, and fellow citizens of North Carolina:

"Thank you my friends from the bottom of my heart.

I am honored to be the first Speaker to preside over this august body in this new State House. I am humbled by the responsibilities of the Office of Speaker. I am grateful for the confidence which you, my fellow legislators, have placed in me.

The people of my good county of Moore and the great State of North Carolina have been over-generous with me, and I shall ever be grateful.

I shall do my best to measure up to the responsibilities of the trust.

In presiding, I realize that I will likely make many mistakes, for I pose as no authority on parliamentary procedure. However, I ask your cooperation and patience, and we shall get along. I expect to follow the rules of the House, but I do not expect to be as unbending over them as were the scribes and pharisees over the letter, rather than the spirit of the law, in Biblical times.

This is an auspicious day in the history of the North Carolina General Assembly — the nation's most powerful state law-making assembly.

Sitting for the first time as the duly constituted House of the 1963 General Assembly, in this new and modern building, a red letter day in the history of North Carolina is in the making, and your children, grand-children and great-grand-children can relate your part in it in the years to come.

It is nice to be in this new and modern State House with its conveniences for the public whom we serve and whom we welcome.

Yet, it is with a tinge of sadness that we leave the beautiful old Capitol Building where so much history has been writ during the past 122 years.

While we were cramped for space in the old Capitol Building, there we found an atmosphere of togetherness and closeness which we will be hard-pressed to match in this spacious building.

It is the history of progress that in moving forward, goodbyes must be said to some fine things to grasp the modern conveniences of the present.

The North Carolina General Assembly is unique and outstanding in the nation. It is the only General Assembly over which the Governor does not have the veto power. This fact in itself has probably served to make the legislators more careful and responsible in the overall discharge of their duties.

Down through the years the North Carolina General Assembly has acted with a high degree of responsibility and willingness to meet new problems.

North Carolina is an enlightened state, a state once called by Thomas Jefferson "fixed and forward." Down through the years our citizenship have selected high type men and women to serve in the General Assembly. Our legislators as a whole have been leaders with a progressive outlook on life.

In North Carolina we have three branches of government — executive, legislative and judicial.

Each has its place and responsibilities.

The executive makes recommendations. The legislative receives them, and then, on its own responsibility acts with the full knowledge that to the people the legislators as individuals must give an accounting of their stewardship.

We must remember that we are members of the legislative branch of government, and that from this position we must act.

We will, of course, cooperate with the executive department, headed by our courageous Governor Terry Sanford, in every reasonable and proper way.

We have varied and important issues facing this General Assembly for decision and action. From every county in North Carolina we have here assembled able and talented men and women from many fields of endeavor who I am sure will measure up to the challenges of our day — yes, the New Day:

Our more than four million people are counting on the men and women here assembled in this new State House to debate, and decide well, the issues and challenging opportunities that confront us in this good year of 1963.

Working together, shoulder to shoulder, with God' help, we shall face up to them, that North Carolina may continue, unabated its forward march in the parade of progress."

Mr. Speaker Blue then assumes the duties of the Chair and announces that nominations are in order for Principal Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Representative McMillan of Wake places the name of Mrs. Annie E. Cooper of Wake County in nomination for Principal Clerk, seconded by Representative Coggins.

The roll of the House is called and the following members vote for Mrs. Cooper:

SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER
February 7, 1963

Mr. Speaker:

It is ordered that a message be sent your Honorable Body with the information that pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 5, entitled "A Joint Resolution inviting His Excellency, the Governor, to address a Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives at 12 Noon, Thursday, February 7, 1963, and at 10:30 A. M., Friday, February 8, 1963", the Senate stands ready to repair to the Hall of the House there to sit in today's Joint Session with your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
S. RAY BYERLY, Principal Clerk

Pursuant to resolutions, heretofore adopted, and exchange of messages, the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House announces the arrival of the Senate at the door of the House. Mr. Speaker Blue directs the admittance and seating of that Honorable Body. Mr. President Stone is seated to the left of Mr. Speaker Blue and is presented the presiding gavel.

The Joint Assembly is called to order by President Stone.

The Sergeant-at-Arms of the House announces approach of Governor Sanford. The Governor enters escorted by Senators White, Stikeleather, Williams, and Representatives High, Hamrick and Leatherwood.

President Stone recognizes the Senator from Lenoir, Senator White, who presents His Excellency Terry Sanford, Governor of North Carolina.

Governor Sanford delivers the following biennial message:
"Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the General Assembly of North Carolina:

This occasion is a historic one for the reason that this is the first Session to meet in the beautiful new Legislative Building. This building will long be the pride of North Carolina, a symbol recalling our sturdy history and our important future.

Further, this is an important occasion for me because I come to meet you as a group for the first time.

I look forward to our joint venture in the cause of North Carolina progress. You follow the most constructive General Assembly in the history of our State; and I am glad to see that so many of the men and women of vision and courage who set this high mark last time are back here today to begin another session.

The accomplishments of the 1961 General Assembly were marked by an optimistic awareness that North Carolina had reached the point in history when we could do many more things toward providing better chances in life for all of our people.

On their record you have the opportunity to build an even greater record of service and dedication.

You will hear some whisperings abroad saying that we have done enough, have moved well and far and rapidly, and so it is time now to slow down, rest, and catch our breath.

These whispers come from the fearful and timid who have always opposed the accomplishments from which they now would rest. This cannot be and is not the spirit of North Carolina. We are moving wisely and firmly. Much remains to be done, to provide better educational opportunities for the competition our children will surely face, to encourage broader economic development so everybody will have a better chance to make a better living. Now is the time to move forward. Now is no time to loaf along.

I do not intend to present the "Governor's Program". I intend to say to you that there is much to be done, that the opportunities are here as never before, and that I pledge to work with you to achieve the good things in life which are ours for the reaching.

You know, as well as I, that the last two years have seen many gains, much progress. The next two can see even more.

You know, as well as I, that the last decade has brought more advances than any in our history. The next decade can double these advances.

In almost all fields, in almost all sections, in almost all programs, the heartbeat of North Carolina is healthy, and is getting stronger all the time.

SCIENCE

We are not neglecting any of the other broad concerns of our people when we conclude that science will have more influence than ever before in the future of our State.

Science in its broadest meaning of inter-related disciplines is the secret of future development as it unfolds the secrets of space and man and earth.

Our responsibility cannot be fulfilled by a legislative act or a simple appropriation, or the best of intentions.

It starts with the first grade. It involves all business. It radiates from graduate schools. It finds strength in faculties, in the Research Triangle, in the attitudes of people, in industry, in agriculture, in government.

We already have the Governor's Scientific Advisory Committee, made up of leading scholars. With their guidance, adding to them groups of leaders in every field, plotting the course, we are attempting to enter the age of science with wisdom and understanding.

AGRICULTURE

In Agriculture, Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine continues to furnish the drive needed for consumer protection and the vision required for agricultural development.

Technology in producing, processing and packaging products has considerably increased the variety and volume and the need for vigilance in carrying out the Department's responsibilities for protecting the health and pocketbook of consumers.

There is not a man, woman or child in North Carolina who does not derive benefit from the service and regulatory programs of one or more of the Department's 16 divisions.

Of the new programs authorized by the last session of the General Assembly and initiated by the Department during this biennium, none has been of more vital importance to every citizen of the State than the compulsory meat and poultry inspection, assuring wholesome and healthful food.

Another important new addition to the Department of Agriculture during the past biennium was State purchase of the Farmers Market at Raleigh. Purchased under a self-liquidating agreement and operated on its own revenues at no cost to the taxpayer, this facility is making a major contribution not only to North Carolina agriculture, but also to North Carolina consumers through the increased quantity and enhanced quality of fresh produce made available to them the year round.

Working in partnership with the Department of Agriculture is the School of Agriculture, which Dean H. Brooks James has made even more effective in public service.

The Agricultural Opportunities Program provides a blueprint for all agencies, organizations, and groups to assist in (1) increasing farm income; (2) providing adequate markets and facilities, including processing; and (3) improving family and community living through education.

A Department of Food Science and Processing has been created at State College; and the development of the food processing industry is an important part of the Conservation and Development program and is a major part of all related State agencies as we embark on a planned goal to make North Carolina the food supplier for the nation. Food processing is now one of our major projects.

The Agricultural Extension Service's "1.6 in 66" Program was developed from 100 county programs. We called on the Extension Advisory Boards in each county to work with the Extension staff, and thus more than 1,500 farmers directly developed this approach to new income, and thousands more contributed to it indirectly.

Extension Home Economics Agents, the 4-H Club program, the FFA, the community and area development activities indicate the farm life and economy are on the move.

Research in the departments of the School of Agriculture and the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station will reduce the cost of production and improve the product through the elimination of the many hazards of plant and animal diseases, insects, weeds and weather.

The levels of living will be limited only by the imagination of the researchers. Much is going on to make farming more valuable to everybody in the State.

COMMERCIAL FISHERIES

Still another food resource of great importance is our commercial fishing industry. We are seeking greater use through food processing.

Our Conservation and Development Department Director recently toured the coastal area to discuss the problems of commercial fishermen. Rigid and frozen conservation practices would impose hardships, and inadequate conservation measures would be disastrous for the future. We are continually striving for that program that will insure wise use of this resource; and our Commerical Fisheries Division considers itself the advocate and protector of the person who draws his living from the commercial waters.

TOURISTS

Any time we speak of our resources in North Carolina, we cannot overlook the fact that North Carolina is a natural vacation state. The variety of our attractions, from mountains to coast, are unequalled. Last year more than 25 million travelers visited our State. In 1961 some 75,450 people were employed in 18,600 travel-serving industries which had a gross income of $888 million dollars. As our third largest dollar producing industry we must continue to give our increased support to this enterprise.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS

Good roads help the tourist business, and also business, agriculture and industry profit from roads.

The most significant roadbuilding achievement in the past two years has been in the overall improvement of secondary roads in North Carolina. A total of $15 million was spent in 1961, most of it after July of that year; and in 1962, $36 million was expended, representing the largest expenditure since the Scott bond issue. In 1962 over 1100 miles of secondary roads were stabilized and 900 miles paved.

I would point out to you that these funds for secondary roads were squeezed out by a better budget arrangement and careful management. Adequate appropriations are not available to build as rapidly as we should. We will continue to do all that we can to improve as much secondary mileage as possible with existing revenues.

The primary and the interstate systems were not neglected.

North Carolina is one of the leaders in the nation in terms of the amount of interstate system open to traffic.

In 1962 a total of 2,569 miles of highway work was let to contract at a total value of over $66 million dollars, representing the largest single year's work in the highway history of North Carolina.

There are many other reasons for being proud of your Highway Commission and Highway Department under the director of Chairman Merrill Evans and Director W. F. Babcock. Traffic engineering for safety is being expanded to save lives. New research has been set up to save us money and make our operations more effective. Plans are being made for advance right-of-way acquisition which will prevent blockage of future highway projects. Our Advance Planning Unit is considered one of the finest in the nation.

Finally the basic problem is money. Ten percent of all state highway mileage in America is in the North Carolina system, and we support it on 3 percent of the highway taxes collected. With all the money directed toward highways and no longer supporting the prisons and other such agencies, the best possible analysis of our highway system indicates that we are still falling approximately $25 million dollars a year behind in our construction program; and this means primary, urban and secondary.

I am convinced that an improved highway system promotes the economy in such a way that it pays for itself, and that the investments we make in better roads will be returned.

You will also receive legislation dealing with roadside billboards, and these certainly need proper control.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

The past two years have been eventful ones for the continued economic growth of North Carolina. This growth has been highlighted especially by our industrial expansion.

Growth of our industrial labor force and gains to the payrolls of our wage earners have also been significant for 1961-62. Gross gains to our working force in industry have been over 60,000 persons and wage gains have been some 200 million dollars.

Secretary of State Thad Eure has authorized more new corporations during the past two years than at any other similar period in the history of the State. During 1961 and 1962, 6,133 new domestic corporations were organized. Seven hundred and ninety six corporations from other states were domesticated to do business in North Carolina.

In 1961, our per capita income scored a five per cent gain over the average for 1960. Comparable figures for 1962 are not yet available but it is believed there will be some gain over 1961. Hargrove Bowles and Robert Stallings have provided vivid and vigorous leadership.

The full weight of our Industrial Education Program is now beginning to be felt in our promotion efforts. Our Department of Conservation and Development states, without reservation, that the industrial education program and in fact the State's total new efforts toward improving eduacation represent one of the most effective promotional tools ever provided.

The developers over the State are anxious to learn what new and effective things this Legislature will do to assist the program. They and we know that some of our closest competitors are girding themselves to do serious battle with us on every worthwhile project contemplated for the Southeast.

We must not follow in the steps of some states in the Nation that make unrealistic concessions to industry. We cannot, however, because we are leading afford to become staid and self-satisfied. We strive constantly to improve our attractiveness to reputable business. Those factors which hinder our economic growth in competition with other areas must be corrected or we will miss some of the progress which would naturally come our way.

I especially solicit your thinking and advice on how we might keep this progress moving for the benefit of all of our people.

SCHOOLS

Since the General Assembly was last here much progress has been made in our schools. State Superintendent Charles F. Carroll and State Board Chairman Dallas Herring are leading the way.

The most dramatic change has been the beginning of a new life in education across the State, in large counties and little ones. Teachers are working harder, stretching for new ideas, doing a better job day by day, exhibiting a high morale and a higher sense of duty and dedication.

More smart and dedicated young people than ever before are choosing teaching as a career. More new teachers, graduating from our colleges, are staying in North Carolina to teach.

More consolidation, more improvement in courses of study, fewer dropouts, more dedication from principals, greater interest by parents, are positive signs of progress. Along with the emphasis by our State, there has been great new help from the counties and districts where ultimate responsibility lies. I am pleased to see so much local interest and work, for without this we cannot make much progress. We must urge even greater local support.

Students, the key and the purpose of all your efforts, are showing that they realize studying is important, that learning is going to mean so much in their lives. They are serious, but with the full enthusiasm of youth are giving a new dimension to our schools. Student leadership is meaning more than ever. Your efforts and faith is being well rewarded by students who have come to full understanding that there is no place tomorrow for the uneducated brain or the untrained skill.

School administrators are seeking new ways, better methods, fresh ideas, to make the most of the human resources of the State.

When we first decided to accelerate our school efforts, I pointed out that there is no magic button, there is no easy way, that our sustained efforts for about ten years would be required to reach the top and then full steam would be necessary to keep us there.

All over this Nation, North Carolina is recognized as a foremost leader in new effort for better schools. Other states are looking, asking, following, and maybe getting ahead of us.

This is no time to get smug. When I asked the last General Assembly for new money, I said I would be just as demanding of teachers and school people. I have tried to do this and will continue. There is plenty of room for improvement in teachers, school principals, school systems, superintendents, board members, and governors. We know it, and we will try to find that improvement.

There is also need for continued legislative support, and the budget requests of the State Board of Education are realistic and reasonable.

We are moving. Moving in the right direction. If we keep up this rate of effort and improvement and support through this session, and the next two, the General Assembly arriving at this State House in February 1969 should find that North Carolina has a school system equal to the best in the Nation.

TALENTED CHILDREN

In the age when excellence is in demand, we have a rapidly expanding public school program to seek out and challenge unusual talent. Last year, 2,065 students were involved, and this year 5,206 are taking part, and next year, it will reach far more.

In addition, we have established a summer school for talented high schoool juniors and seniors to be held at Salem College, to give incentive and recognition to excellence throughout the State. This project, the first of its kind, has national significance. It will be supported for three years by a grant from the Carnegie Foundation and Winston-Salem individuals, companies, and foundations.

RETARDED CHILDREN

We have never given proper attention to children with limited ability. I appointed a special commission last year to outline a state program in this field. I will later ask you to make this a permanent commission, and will present to you the very thoughtful suggestions the program presented.

EDUCATIONAL TELEVISION

We expect to utilize television in education to the best possible extent. Last year I set up a special study committee and already we are actively seeking complete coverage for all parts of the State. This approach holds great promise for the improvement of quality in instruction.

EMPLOYMENT

As a State, we are concervned with employment, and the Employment Security Commission's role is almost wholly concerned with activities designed to promote fuller use of the State's manpower resources.

North Carolina's rate of insured unempolyment during the biennium remained consistently below the national average.

A low average industrial wage has disturbed us until we analyze it, and we find the reasons are more good than bad. We now have 40,000 people in needle work averaging $1.32 per hour which pulls down our total average. However, a few years ago we did not have these jobs now held largely by displaced farm people, and it must be admitted that $1.32 is is far better than unemployment. We will, however, continue to do everything possible to improve the chances our people have to earn better living.

The total wage payments to insured workers rose between the first half of 1960 and first half of 1962 by more than 13 per cent, meaning that the 1962 payroll for these workers will be $3.8 billion as compared with 1960 earnings of less than $3.3 billion.

We paid out $82 million in insurance to unemployed, which did much to relieve the distress of those experiencing unemployment and served as a cushion to bolster the North Carolina program.

Our Employment Security Trust Fund increased by $7 million, and all indications are that North Carolina's program remains one of the most solvent in the Nation.

There are certain minor amendments and adjustments to be made, including increasing the benefits in certain cases.

As a state, we have a responsibility of helping to find jobs. The Chairman of the Employment Security Commission, Colonel Henry E. Kendall, has taken the lead in this. We take it as our mission to reduce substantially unemployment, and we are working in that direction.

LABOR

Frank Crane, Commissioner of Labor, has brought exceptional skill to his assignment.

Labor-management relations continued on their traditional even keel, with relatively few strikes and low totals of lost man-hours. North Carolina's record of industrial peace and productivity is one of the best in the Nation.

We have just come through a year of record growth.

The State has received national publicity and recognition for its achievement in industrial safety.

The North Carolina Minimum Wage Law is well accepted now, and it appears appropriate to increase the seventy-five cent minimum set by the 1959 statute to a figure more in keeping with present-day economic realities. I hope you will consider this favorably, and I hope it might be raised to $1.00.

This would substantially help the earnings of many thousands of our fellow citizens, and would boost the entire economy.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Chairman J. W. Bean of the Industrial Commission and his associates are administering the Workmen's Compensation Law with great efficiency and with fairness to all.

The percentage of injuries has been decreasing, but the employment in industrial plants has been increasing and thus the caseload is growing.

It is likely that the coverage and maximum amounts provided in the statutes are no longer adequate and I would hope you would give some consideration to adjusting these provisions.

SENATE REDISTRICTING

There are some other specific things we need to do during this Session.

The Constitution requires that the Senate be redistricted. It is just that simple, and we need to get on with the job.

I hope also you will consider a constitutional amendment which will make this automatic in the future, as we provided in the case of House reapportionment in the last session and elections.

INSURANCE LAWS

North Carolina is known nationally as a state of honest and fair insurance law administration with the chief passion being the complete protection of the public. We need some tightening up here and there and we can count on Commissioner Edwin S. Lanier to present sound proposals to us.

ELECTION LAWS

Our elections are honest but in some cases the absentee ballot provisions have been abused. Chairman William Joslin has proposed sound changes for your consideration.

SCHOOL BOARDS

School boards and school committees are a key to success of our hopes in achieving a new quality in our schools. We must attempt to devise several methods of selection which will diminish partisan attitudes, and I am thinking about non-partisan rather that bi-partisan attitudes. We need to attract the best possible citizens to these jobs.

MIGRANT LABOR

The Governor's Committee on Agricultural Migrants approved and sponsored a bill in the 1961 General Assembly which authorized minimum sanitation standards in labor camps. This bill failed to pass. It was decided to prepare such minimum standards which would be followed on a cooperative basis with the Employment Security Commission, the local health departments and local growers. These standards were approved by the Governor's Committee and released to the press December 1961. We are doing many other things on a voluntary basis.

Many growers cooperated in 1962 and 202 permits were issued by the local health departments in contrast to 147 issued during 1961.

A number of new camps were constructed and physical improvements were made but many continued to operate without adequate sanitation protection.

We should consider legislation for minimum protection of migrant workers.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Most public health programs are necessarily of an ongoing nature to undergird continually the total health of the citizens of North Carolina, and Dr. J. W. R. Norton, State Health Officer, and many associates are to be commended for their diligence.

Our State has maintained its outstanding record in the control of communicable disease. This is especially true in poliomyelitis in which the 1959 total of 277 paralytic cases with 20 deaths was cut down to 9 cases in 1961 with one death and to 11 cases in 1962 with no deaths.

Remarkable progress can be seen in the control of diphtheria and typhoid fever.

Progress in the control of whooping cough is also encouraging.

Influenza, however, is still largely uncontrolled with epidemics occurring every two to three years.

The Board constantly monitors for radiation fall-out and is prepared for widescale operation in an emergency.

Aid to counties is a pressing need at the present time in order to enable local health departments to add sufficient staff to cope with immediate public health problems.

We will have presented for our consideration legislation authorizing the State Board of Health to intensify its study of the air pollution problem in the State and to encourage adoption of measures to abate these hazards.

THE SANITORIUM SYSTEM

Tuberculosis is treated in four sanatoriums — McCain, Black Mountain, Wilson, and The Gravely Sanatorium at Chapel Hill.

The system is extremely well administered under Dr. Henry Stuart Willis, Superintendent and Medical Director, and Ben H. Clark, Administrator. Costs of operation compare most favorably.

Treatment has improved remarkably. The average stay in 1950 was sixteen months; now it is less than seven months.

There is a slight increase in admissions with a drug-resistent bacilli which could create serious future problems. There is also a shift in the age of the patients with the largest group now being elderly people, and this also could create some future problems. Both of these situations could cause increased costs in the next biennium which we cannot now anticipate.

To determine just where we stand, I appointed an Advisory Committee on Tuberculosis and they have just made a report. This indicates there is still much work to be done in public health and other areas and we are taking the recommended steps.

ATOMIC ENERGY

The use of atomic energy will have growing meaning for the people of this State, and its regulation, development, and control are supervised and coordinated by a group of businessmen, educators, and public employees constituting the North Carolina Atomic Energy Advisory Committee.

We have six subcommittees, Agriculture, Medicine and Public Health, Education and Research, Power, Industry and Labor, and Radiation Standards, all concerning themselves with vital problems.

A number of state institutions and agencies are involved with the problems and opportunities of atomic energy, and industrial development will be assisted by our clear understanding of the possibilities.

The committee has recommended for our consideration certain legislative action, which I believe would be of benefit to us, especially relating to regulation, licensing, and supervision.

SPACE TECHNOLOGY

Space projects have not naturally sought North Carolina because we were not located to provide a launching site, and did not have the basic aircraft industry, but there will be many things we can contribute to the exploration of space secrets, and many benefits we can derive from this contribution. Right now we are working on a program which will do just this.

The development of stronger departments in engineering and the physical sciences is a major effort, and these and related fields must receive our complete support as we chart our course into a century of technology and change.

We are going to continue to drive to develop the educational contributions to the atomic and space age, drawing together the brains and resources of industry, business, education and government to plan our place in this fantastic future.

UTILITIES

The regulation of utilities is under the chairmanship of Harry T. Westcott, who is doing a conscientious and able job along with his colleagues.

At his suggestion, I recommended that a thorough study be made to bring our utilities laws up to date and this has now been done.

I hasten to point out to you and for the record the facts we point out almost daily to industrial prospects. Statistics disclose that our electric rates with the exception of several relatively small areas, are well below the national and industrial average; residential rates are ten per cent lower and commercial rates are twenty-five per cent to thirty per cent lower. North Carolina rates are lower than those in our neighboring states. In the past two years the generating capacity has been increased from 3,624,983 kilowatts to 4,435,833 kilowatts and this is dramatic proof of economic growth.

The number of telephones in service in North Carolina are increasing at the rate of approximately 65,000 per year. Held orders have decreased from 37,000 in 1954 to less than 3,000 at present.

The present commission operating under the present laws has done an outstanding job, and this fact is so recognized at the national level.

Give them clearer laws and they will do an even better job.

We need a full time legal advocate for the public.

We need a full-time rate expert representing the public.

There is a need to define the lines between the private companies and the cooperatives. We need to change the method of increasing rates under bond prior to any hearing.

There is need to have a workable and understandable rate-making law, protecting the public and fair to the companies.

The General Statutes Commission will present a report and recommendations to you, and in addition you will have available the study made by Mr. Edward Hipp and the recommendations of our own Utilities Commission.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

The North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority, under the chairmanship of Gwyn B. Price, has successfully promoted an expansion program which now has 98% coverage in dependable electric service and dependable telephone service for 50% of our rural people, reaching 212,000 consumer members.

The growing problem of duplication of service must be solved with fairness to all, especially the rate payer, and this will be one of our job during this session.

MENTAL HOSPITALS

The North Carolina mental care system is not only in the mainstream of America, John Umstead has put it in the first flotilla, and the professional leadership of Dr. Eugene Hargrove will keep us setting an example for the rest of the Nation.

To a great extent our potential rests with the mental health of our people. We have risen above the old concept of custodial care. Our philosophy now, rising from the public attitude and spirit and promoted by professional knowledge is treatment and rehabilitation.

While yearly admissions have risen extraordinarily, the average daily population of the hospital has almost leveled off. For the first time, this halts a rise in resident population which has been going on since the establishment of the hospitals. This has been accomplished, of course, only by the discharge rate keeping pace with admissions which means a much more active treatment program within our hospitals.

We are requesting support for additional reasearch.

The guide line for the future in North Carolina is the development of an integrated comprehensive patient-family-community oriented system of care for major and minor mental disturbances, including mental retardation.

You will also be asked to consider the establishment of a Mental Health Department which will expand the scope of services.

North Carolina is in a position to play a leading role in a national trend toward the maximum realization of human resources through research, training, and service in the mental health field.

MUSIC

The North Carolina Symphony, under the leadership of our imaginative pioneer, Dr. Benjamin Swalin, adds to the enrichment of the education of our children across the State, as it presently begins its Eighteenth Annual Tour. We must assure the permanent establishment of the Symphony.

DRAMA

The outdoor dramas, a North Carolina creation, give us a first ranking position and add to the appeal to tourists and the enjoyment of our citizens.

ART

The North Carolina Museum of Art continues to amaze visitors, influence industrial prospects, enrich the lives of our young people and reflect credit on our State.

Dr. Justus Bier, Director, internationally recognized, has carried on his work with great skill and imagination. The exhibition on Tilman Riemenschneider last fall, supported by the governments of France, the Netherlands and West Germany, was a tremendous success with our people, and widely reported in popular as well as in art periodicals. LIFE magazine, for example, devoted eight full-color pages to the North Carolina exhibition and carried one of the exhibition sculptures on the cover of its Latin American edition.

During the year the Kress Foundation turned over to the State the title to the seventy-two works of art valued at $2.5 million. The total value of our collection is about $7.5 million.

TRAFFIC SAFETY

We continue to be disturbed by the national increase in traffic accidents. One of our positive accomplishments has been the establishment of the privately-endowed North Carolina Traffic Safety Council, which is digging hard for solutions.

I have already outlined publicly a program which I think will save some lives. All of our experience in this and other states indicates drastic action is necessary if you really want to reduce injuries and fatalities. I will send you a special message relating to this problem.

COURT IMPROVEMENT

The people voted for the amendments to improve the administration of justice.

Appropriate research material for legislation is being prepared by a committee of representatives of the General Assembly, the Bar Association, the Judicial Council, and the public. This will be presented to your proper committees for guidance in determining what actions might be taken this year. I think the public expects us to start implementation.

In addition, the Judicial Council will make meritorious recommendations for the general improvement of the courts and court procedure.

STATE PERSONNEL

Personnel administration has made continuing progress in the past two years, and is now under the direction of Walter E. Fuller, an able civil servant. In this area, continued progress and accomplishments are of utmost importance, not only to recognize fairly the many capable and conscientious employees of the State, but also to meet the future needs for competent management and leadership. The dynamic nature of State government makes imperative that we maintain an employment atmosphere attractive to the highest caliber of well-trained and qualified career employees; more emphasis will be needed on the development and training of our personnel.

A longevity pay plan, as provided by the Enabling Act passed by the last Legislature, has been adopted by the State Personnel Council, and I have recommended that the State Personnel Council study the feasibility of increasing these payments.

Contrary to the belief of many, there are a good number of State employees who do not enjoy the commonly referred to standard workweek of 40 hours. Significant improvements have been made — for example, in our mental institutions some 900 employees have had their working hours reduced since July 7, 1961. On January 1, 1962, the hours of custodial employees of the Prison Department were reduced from 60 to 48 hours. Five years ago these employees worked 72 hours per week. The objective is to get and keep better guards, and you can see the quality of the work reflected in the reduction in hours.

The 1961 Appropriation Act included a salary adjustment fund for each of the two years. During the past two years, the State Personnel Council has authorized salary range revisions for some 200 classes of positions which included approximately 8,000 employees.

Although this is not in the budget, we need a continuation of a salary adjustment fund to be provided in the 1963-65 budget. You will receive requests for across-the-board salary increases which are not set forth in the budget. You will receive requests for higher salaries for professional personnel. I recommend that the Joint Appropriations Committee study these three problems so that we might reach fair and equitable decisions.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT

I am pleased to report much success in the cooperation between state government and the one hundred counties.

The State and the counties are partners in the financing of public schools, in the financing of community colleges, in the support of industrial education centers, in the administration and financing of public welfare and public health, in library operation, hospital construction, and agriculture extension. We work with them in the development of plans for roads and water resources and many other programs.

Last year I was privileged to attend their national meeting and observed that most other states look to North Carolina as a model of cooperation which they hope to achieve.

We have sought the advice and suggestions of county officials in all things relating to joint responsibilities, and they have been most cooperative and helpful.

We shall continue to seek their assistance, and shall continue to furnish advice available to us and to assist them in every possible way in the discharge of their responsibilities.

We cannot hope to make progress unless county officials are willing to do their share, to accept their responsibilities, and to lead out in education and other programs vital to the future of our people.

CITIES AND TOWNS

Thirty years ago only twenty-five per cent of our citizens lived in town. Now it is forty per cent. In the perspective of history, it will be but an instant before a majority of North Carolinians are city residents.

As people crowd together, their problems multiply geometrically, and they need help.

There are three ways in which the State can assist: (1) with money; (2) with enabling legislation and (3) with planning and advisory services. I propose action in all three categories.

There is a way in which the State can give financial aid and save itself money. I have instructed the Highway Department to set up a revolving fund for the advance acquisition of highway rights-of-way. Where future thoroughfares are engineered, the State can use its money to purchase and hold rights-of-way until the project is constructed. Then the cities will reimburse their share. This procedure is a major step forward in state-municipal relationships.

We can clear the way for cities to help themselves, and I will propose and support several measures for protection of right-of-way, protection of open spaces, tightening of Powell Bill procedures, and other changes which should help the towns and cities.

Finally, we can give all the cities a point of contact in state government where they can receive planning advice, economic development assistance, and find an advocate with federal agencies.

COMMUNITY PLANNING

In striving for the economic and educational growth of our people, I know that we must always be aware that rapid growth brings not only benefits but also problems.

To cope with these problems of development in a sound and orderly manner, sound planning principles must be employed. Our larger cities are meeting the problem by employing professional planning staffs. Our smaller communities, however, often lack the financial resources to do this even though the problems confronting them are not less acute than those of the larger cities.

In recognition of this problem, the General Assembly of 1957 authorized the creation of a Division of Community Planning within the structure of the Department of Conservation and Development. Since its activation, the Division has concentrated its efforts in the smaller municipalities and counties having populations of less than 50,000 persons. After the first full year's operation, in late 1958, the Division was serving only four municipalities. Now, some four years later, sixty-seven municipalities and eleven counties are being served and additional communities are being added to the list as rapidly as assistance can be provided.

We can avoid the crowded cities, the slums, the breeders of crime and disorder, by making planning a part of our growth.

RECREATION

The North Carolina Recreation Commission under the leadership of Ralph J. Andrews, its imaginative director, primarily is in the business of furnishing advice and stimulus to public, private, and commercial recreation interests throughout the whole State.

North Carolina of the future will need vast recreational facilities. People will be living in more crowded conditions, predictions have been made that we will have one vast city ranging from the Research Triangle to Charlotte, leisure time is a certainty, and more millions will be traveling to Variety Vacationland for recreation.

Only a few years ago, we were giving little or no attention to the development of recreation; now it is suddenly important. We have asked the North Carolina Recreation Commission to draw together all agencies directly or indirectly concerned with recreation, and to plan now for the 1980's.

FORESTS

We are doing much with our natural resources and, of equal importance, are practicing conservation measures that will enhance their value for future generations.

Management practices and fire control programs of our forest land make us a leader in these programs in the Southeast. The assistance being rendered to woodland owners by our State Forest Service continues to be of considerable value to local economy and our forest tree seedling program is helping to insure an abundant growth of trees for the future. Some forty-three million seedlings will be sold this year and increased interest in the program indicates even greater distribution for the coming years.

The serious loss of woodlands from forest fires has been reduced through modern fire fighting techniques and equipment. During the past two years the average size of our forest fires have been reduced drastically and the percentage of protected acreage actually burned has been brought to a new low figure.

PARKS

We must not ignore the preservation and protection for the benefit of our people those things of our natural and native surroundings that are so much a part of the beauty and history of our State. Over the past two years State Parks were visited by more than three and one-quarter million people, an all-time high attendance figure. As our State continues to grow economically and industrially, the demand for park facilities will increase rapidly. During the past two years two new areas have been added to bring to thirteen our total of State Parks.

We also have been expanding greatly the facilities at Kerr Reservoir under the Kerr Reservoir Development Commission.

The North Carolina National Park, Parkway and Forest Development Commission concerns itself with the development of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, the Blue Ridge Parkway and the North Carolina National Forests. This spring we have called a conference on outdoor recreation in the Applachian which should be of great help in the development of Western North Carolina.

The Hatteras National Seashore Park Commission is concerned with the development and promotion of the greatest seashore park in the country.

We need to plan today for adequate parks for the future.

WILDLIFE

The Wildlife Resources Commission is supported from hunting and fishing license fees and certain federal funds.

Headed by Clyde P. Patton, Executive Director, we have a program of intensive fish and game management building for the present use and protecting for the future use.

WATER RESOURCES

Water resources development in North Carolina has gained momentum rapidly during the current biennium under the direction of Harry E. Brown.

Steps aimed at full development of major river basins for purposes of water supply, water quality improvement, flood control, navigation, irrigation, and recreation are moving steadily ahead.

The completion of the W. Kerr Scott Reservoir on the Yadkin River will provide for future industrial development, for flood control, and many advantages including the growing demand for recreation facilities.

Similar possibilities are included in the one hundred-year plan for the comprehensive development of the Cape Fear Basin which is now under consideration by Congress.

Similar studies for the Neuse will be ready in 1963, and for the Upper French Broad in 1965. Surveys for the Catawba, New, and French Broad River Basins are in progress. Similar studies for the Yadkin, Broad, and Tar River Basins have been authorized.

Waterway development is moving forward at the fastest rate in the State's history.

Studies of the coastline are in progress. Hurricane protection plans for Carolina Beach, Fort Fisher, Wrightsville, Fort Macon, are authorized by Congress. Plans for protection against storm flooding for areas of Craven and Pamlico counties are near completion.

The State is a partner with New Hanover County, the Town of Wrightsville Beach, and the federal government in the Saline Water Conversion Research and Development Test Station.

North Carolina's statewide anti-pollution program has made great progress; all basin studies have been completed; thirteen basins have been classified (90% of the State's area), leaving only three which will be completed by the end of this Session. Chairman Vivian Whitfield deserves commendation.

The eroding shoreline is particularly acute. Water Resources and a special committee headed by Woodrow Price are making extensive studies, and will have recommendations to make to you.

There will be other modest requests, but I hope you will see the importance, the new momentum, and will work to keep us moving rapidly to conserve and develop this great and valuable natural resource.

STATE PORTS

The State Ports Authority is adding new life to the economy of North Carolina in a way that will bring benefits for many years. No longer are we required to look to the North and the South for exports and imports, having some of our profits rub off as we of necessity relied on the ports of Norfolk and Charleston.

During the last biennium, we have completed a new warehouse and equipment garage at Morehead City and have acquired the former shipyard at Wilmington under a lease-purchase option.

We have also built at Wilmington a new T-head pier for the purpose of handling bulk liquid cargoes, and have seen new companies come in to use this and other port facilities.

Ports business has increased.

We need additional berths and warehouses if we are to stay in the competition.

Our sister states are moving rapidly. Port development is an important segment of our total economic development, as important as roads and airports. Our ports are fast approaching self-support, but we need now to make wise investments which will keep our economy moving.

HISTORY

This is the 376th year since the birth of Virginia Dare and the 300th Anniversary of the Carolina Charter by King Charles II, and we are going to have many things remind us of a full and proud heritage.

We should not let this Tercentenary pass without building a Hall of History. We are the only state between Pennsylvania and the Gulf Coast without a proper place to display and preserve our history, and our documents are in constant jeopardy in their present temporary storage.

LIBRARY

A strong State Library, supporting local libraries, is a part of a wise program of education, and indeed the extent of libraries is a measure of the civilization of a people.

One example of the work is the State Library Processing Center which orders, catalogs, processes and delivers ready for use books selected by participating libraries in sixty-four counties. Consultant services, extension services, and the State Aid to Public Libraries Fund are examples of other assistance to local communities and the very fine services directed by Mrs. Elizabeth H. Hughey.

We do not really have a library in the physical sense. We need this badly if we are to develop our facility property, and it is believed that it should be built in conjunction with our Hall of History.

PRISONS, PAROLES, PROBATION

You are the first General Assembly in at least two decades to be free from the responsibility of providing funds for a growing prison population. Your Prison Department is the only one in the nation with a decreasing population, and we expect a reduction of more than 1200 inmates from what the figure would have been if the average inmate population had continued to grow as it did from 1945 through 1961.

I am sure we are pleased when the cost of crime is reduced and the tax-dollar is saved. The savings in human resources, gainful employment, and the reduction in heartbreak and mental anguish are the most significant gains from stopping the growth of the prison population.

Close cooperation between the Prison Department and free-community agencies and citizens in aiding alcoholics has helped to remove many from the list of repeated offenders.

The rapid growth and remarkable success of the Work Release Program has attracted national and international attention. This program has not only helped to reduce the prison population by its effectiveness as a rehabilitation measure, but has also shifted the cost of supporting more than 1250 work release prisoners and their dependents from the State to the prisoners themselves.

Another especially noteworthy aspect of the Work Release Program is the fact that court, probation, prison, parole, welfare, and employment officials and personnel all have important functions in its development and operation. Credit for and pride in the success of this program is, therefore, widely shared.

We need to have the Work Release Law modified so that its proven value as a pre-parole program can be extended to prisoners serving sentences longer than five years.

We need to expand and extend the programs and measures conducted cooperatively by the Prison Department and the Hospitals Board of Control to determine what can and should be done for prisoners who are mentally ill or inebriates.

We need to make a comprehensive study of possible alternatives for treating the alcoholic offender.

We need to encourage and facilitate coordination of the programs of all agencies concerned with crime prevention and control, and in this regard I commend to you the recommendations of the Commission on Reorganization of State Government.

With rare exceptions it is far better to place a person on parole than to give an outright discharge from prison. Parole procedure provides some supervision and some help in readjustment and makes return to prison less likely. Of the last 7,000 paroled only 1.4 per cent committed while on parole what would be termed really serious offenses.

We need additional parole officers to do the job in the proper manner, giving personal attention which will lessen the chances of return to prison.

Reformation of the prisoner is the most important work of the Board of Paroles, and it is obvious that Chairman Johnson Matthews has made the policy work.

The financial side is no small matter. In the last two years alone over six million dollars has been saved by placing men on parole who otherwise would have been an expense to the prison system, and over $700,000 has been saved in welfare payments to the families of these men. In addition, in the same period the men on parole have earned almost eight million dollars on which they paid taxes to help support the men they left in prison, to say nothing of adding to the support of the schools for their children.

Probation also has been of significant value because it gives careful supervision to the person in trouble before he suffers the many bad effects of being in the prison system, associating with people who may cause additional trouble. The Probation System under the able leadership of Charles Cohoon is being used more and more by the judges, and if we are to make this work to redeem lives, to save money for the State, we need additional probation supervisors.

We can supervise a man on probation or parole for a year at the cost of keeping him in prison for one month, and records show this person will earn his own money, pay taxes, and is less likely to get into trouble again.

These agencies, Probation, Prison, Parole, will continue to move forward in the two-fold task of protecting the public and rehabilitating offenders. We expect to reduce further the cost of crime by closer guidance, expanding rehabilitation programs for youthful offenders, alcoholics, and inmates needing medical and psychiatric treatment by group counselling, pre-release preparation, academic and vocational education, and the expansion of the Work Release Program.

PUBLIC WELFARE

North Carolina is known across the Nation for its progressive Public Welfare Program, a program which has placed great emphasis on a wide variety of services that help people to help themselves.

Despite this range of services, public welfare in North Carolina has been marked by economy of administration.

The 1961 General Assembly strengthened the public welfare program in a number of ways through both legislation and appropriations. These measures have all been implemented during the biennium to the end that grants are slightly higher for needy people and services are on a sounder basis.

Good as the record is, we are not doing enough in the public welfare area. We must see to it that every child deprived of the support and care of his parents has his basic needs for food, clothing, and shelter met at such a level that he can in turn take full advantage of education opportunity and become a well-adjusted, self-supporting adult.

We will have some good recommendations coming from the special commission set up by the last General Assembly and under the chairmanship of former Senator Dallas Alford.

We also need to turn our attention to the necessarily high cost of medical care for the medically indigent and also for older people no longer able to work, not medically indigent, but with limited funds, who have worked hard all of their lives, who have not been able to save much from limited earnings, and who face having all of their life's savings wiped out by extended illness. I do not believe this is socialized medicine, and I do not believe it leads toward socialized medicine, and I do not think we can continue to ignore the needs of these people in the face of increasing medical care costs. We have a special committee working on the implementation of Kerr-Mills legislation and will have this available for your consideration.

SCHOOLS FOR BLIND AND DEAF

We have the State School for the Blind and Deaf at Raleigh with Egbert N. Peeler as Superintendent; and in Morganton the largest school for the deaf in the Nation under the direction of Ben Hoffmeyer.

We also are in the process of building an additional school for the deaf at Wilson under authorization of the last Session of the General Assembly. You are being asked to implement this new school which is much needed to provide training for children who live in the eastern half of the State.

Also, we need to remember as we improve the public schools that this specialized training is also a part of public education, and should not be overlooked. These children need too the advantages of the increased appropriations which attract and hold the best possible teachers.

COMMISSION FOR THE BLIND

The North Carolina State Commission for the Blind, with H. A. Wood as its able Secretary, charged with all services for the blind except the schools, has the support of volunteers to a degree unequalled in any other State in the Nation.

In rehabilitation North Carolina has led the Nation for the past fifteen years in the number of blind persons rehabilitated into employment.

Home industries, medical services, prevention of blindness, restoration of vision, are a part of this remarkable state service.

We will ask you to strengthen these services.

VETERANS

North Carolina has always made a heavy contribution in manpower to our Nation's armed forces. As evidence of this, we have a veteran population of some 436,000 persons. There are over 96,000 veterans and dependents in North Carolina now receiving some form of disability or death benefits, and it is significant to note that we have about 2,000 Tar Heels who were disabled in the so-called "peacetime" actions around the globe since Korea.

These men, together with their dependents — widows, orphans, and aging parents who lost sons — comprise about forty-five per cent of our population. Last year alone, federal expenditures for veterans in North Carolina exceeded $143,000.000.

For the most part, assistance in obtaining and continuing to receive these benefits must come from outside the federal government. These benfits are not automatic; entitlements must be proved. Such assistance is provided all over North Carolina through the work of the North Carolina Veterans Commission, headed by Collin McKinne.

CIVIL DEFENSE AGENCY

Recurrent international crises and the grave dangers that face our Nation in this nuclear age leave little room for doubt that realistic civil defense is essential to our continued well being and security as a free people. It is considered vital to our national diplomacy and generally accepted as part of our American defense. As such, it is vital to us as a state and as individual citizens.

North Carolina Civil Defense, established with a small coordinating agency operating under the Governor, directed by General Edward F. Griffin, has made outstanding programs during the biennium.

Emergency Services are established with responsibilities assigned to twenty-seven state agencies and organizations. Training has been conducted by many of the services at state, area, and local level.

Every county and 275 cities and towns in North Carolina have named local Civil Denfense Directors. Eighty-three counties have Emergency Plans written and approved, and 159 cities and towns covered by published plans. These plans, prepared under supervision of the State Agency, meet Department of Defense criteria and enable the local agency to qualify for matching federal funds and government surplus property.

Nobody knows whether all these defense measures will ever have to be used, but as long as there is any possibility that they will be required to preserve our State and its people, the effort to establish and maintain a state of operational readiness is fully justified.

NATIONAL GUARD

The North Carolina National Guard is a volunteer organization composed of citizen-soldiers who devote part of their time to training to be ready for any State or National emergency requiring the services of discipline and armed forces.

In the event of enemy attack, the National Guard has standing orders to mobilize immediately as a part of our civil denfense plan and will serve in the State pending their call to federal duty.

The organization consists of units of the Army and Air National Guard located in 102 cities and towns across the State. The Adjutant General Claude T. Bowers is an able and experienced veteran and administrator.

Financial support is provided jointly by the state and federal governments, with the bulk coming from national defense funds.

The field training periods conducted during 1961 and 1962 indicate that all units were in the best state of training and readiness ever achieved.

Notable in the achievements of the Army National Guard is the development and implementation of a physical fitness program for all members of the Guard, developed with the assistance of the North Carolina Recreation Commission and physical education personnel of North Carolina State College. The Chief of the National Guard Bureau was so impressed that he requested us to demonstrate the program to National Guard personnel of all the states. This was done at conferences held in Raleigh and Salt Lake City. As a result, the program has been adopted by the majority of the states and North Carolina has received much favorable comment and praise across the Nation.

The National Guard is now in the process of re-organization under the "ROAD" concept, along with regular army divisions. This is being done in a manner which will best serve the national defense interests, which is our primary goal in the North Carolina National Guard.

We should consider legislation authorizing the establishment of a North Carolina State Guard on a cadre basis. A cadre thus established, with a few volunteers in each community where National Guard units are now located, would provide for a rapid organization of a State Guard as a replacement for the National Guard in the event of mobilization for national service.

MEDICAL CARE COMMISSION

We can all be proud of the accomplishments of the North Carolina Medical Care Commission and William F. Henderson, the Executive Secretary.

During the past two years the Commission has approved twenty-nine community health facility projects involving a total cost of thirty-four million dollars.

Under this program, North Carolina is leading the Nation in the number of medical projects constructed.

With the state loan program, we have attracted sixty new students to medical careers in the mental hospitals and in the State's rural communities.

Our programs for the future concentrate on providing adequate personnel to staff our medical programs, and we are giving attention to attracting more people to health careers.

We are giving more attention to the development of long-term care programs to lessen the strain on acute general hospital beds, and to provide less costly services for the chronically infirm.

During this Session, we will need to consider budget requests to encourage local facilities for the chronically ill, to aid in building mental health clinics, and to continue the student loan programs.

The progress has been made with the lowest number of public employees and the lowest per capita tax rate consistent with the hopes and expectations of our citizens — fourth from the bottom in employees, next to the bottom in per capita tax expenditures.

The greatest thing in North Carolina is the faith and spirit of our people. It is that faith and spirit represented in this Legislature which you exemplify as leaders of our people.

Now is the time to move forward. You and I have this joint responsibility."

After the Governor's address, on motion of Senator Scott the Joint Assembly dissolves, the Senate repairs to its Chambers, and the House ressumes consideration of its business.

His Excellency, Governor Sanford makes the following address:

BUDGET MESSAGE

"I am happy to have the responsibility, imposed upon me by the Executive Budget Act, to come before the General Assembly to recommend the Budget for the 1963-65 biennium.

About this same time one year ago the first memorandum was sent out asking all State agencies to submit their budget requests for study by the staff of the Budget Division, the Advisory Budget Commission, and the Governor. This was the beginning of a process that has consumed the time and thought of many people over the 12-month period which followed.

I would like to thank, on behalf of the State, the men of the Advisory Budget Commission. As you know, four of the six members serve in their capacity as chairmen of the House and Senate Finance and Appropriations Committees. These members are Representative Thomas H. Woodard, who also served as chairman; Senator James G. Stikeleather, Jr.; Senator Thomas J. White; and Representative J. Shelton Wicker. In addition to these members, Senator Ralph H. Scott and Mr. David S. Coltrane and later Mr. E. D. Gaskins served in the two appointed positions. I commend these men for their devotion and their service to North Carolina.

The first major objective in constructing the budget was to determine what would be required in order to continue all necessary State services and programs at the existing level. This, as you know, we have come to call the "A" Budget. While the decisions are limited to determining exactly how much will be required to continue these services at the existing level, still much negotiation and study are necessary.

The "B" Budget provides for new programs, or for improvements or additions to existing programs. Of course, the "B" Budget is limited by the amount of money available, and I can assure you that there are many more needs than there is money to meet those needs. Public hearings were held, and the Advisory Budget Commission deliberated over a period of more than three months before the final decisions were made.

The Capital Improvement Budget is the third category of recommendations making up the total Budget. These are the requests for additional dormitories, additional hospital space, and other capital construction. The Advisory Budget Commission went out across the State for three and one-half weeks, traveling more than 1,800 miles, in order to have first hand knowledge of our various institutions.

The Capital Improvement Budget, like the "B" Budget, is limited by the resources available, and the pressures of both these areas of need had to be judged in making the fiinal recommendations.

I am now submitting to you four documents: Volume I of the Budget, which contains the "A" Budget; Volume II, which contains the "B" Budget and certain summary statements; Volume III, which contains the Capital Improvement Budget; and Volume IV, a digest of all three of these budgets with a number of graphs and other illustrations.

At the front of Volume I you will find the Budget Report, which is a very concise and yet thorough summary of the total Budget. I am not going to use the Budget Message as a mere restatement of the Budget Report. Rather than make that duplication, I am sure you would benefit more by studying that Report at your convenience and at length.

I will use this occasion to discuss and emphasize the major decisions contained in the Budget.

THE GENERAL FUND

Of the three major operating funds, the General Fund is the largest (74 per cent of tax supported funds). It finances almost all programs other than Highway (including Motor Vehicles) and part of Agriculture.

The General Fund derives its revenue mainly from the income tax (40 per cent), sales tax (36 per cent), and certain franchise and excise taxes. There are also various agency receipts and some Federal matching funds.

I am most happy to report to you that North Carolina is in an excellent financial condition. In 1961, our per capita income rose by five per cent, while the average percentage increase for the nation was only two per cent. We have had rapid growth both on the farms and in industry. Never has there been greater confidence in the economy of North Carolina.

I am happy to report we can continue to make sound progress without thinking about new taxes, and in fact I intend to recommend some tax relief.

This economic growth has produced additional revenue for the State, mainly in the personal income tax area. Other revenues have increased significantly, though not so dramatically as personal income. While our 1961 revenue estimates were optimistic, they did not attempt to foresee this unusual prosperity. As a result, additional collections of revenue are now estimated to total $77 million at the end of this biennium.

When savings from appropriated funds are added, we will have an opening balance (also called surplus) for the coming biennium of $104 million. This balance is healthy, a sign of economic progress and economy in government, but it doesn't mean we will have all the money we need. This compares with $74 million surplus which we had when the last Session of the General Assembly made up the last Budget. In other words, we needed a surplus of at least $74 million this time just to be even with the board.

The official General Fund revenue estimates for the coming biennium total $840,825,000. When you add the $104 million to these estimates, we will have total General Fund resources of $944,825,000 with which to finance General Fund programs.

Against these resources we had first to determine the amount required for the General Fund "A" Budget. This is $814 million, to keep programs going at the existing levels of service.

The 1961 General Assembly appropriated $779 million for these same programs in the present biennium. Thus you see we expect and estimate normal growth of our existing programs to be about 4½ per cent. Normal growth means that for about every 27 new students we need one more teacher and additional supplies. It means that as the population increases we must anticipate that more people will need hospital and other such services.

Therefore, to keep programs operating as they now operate we need "A" Budget expenditures from the General Fund of $814 million, a 4½ per cent increase. Subtract this from the money available and we have left $131 million.

We turn now to Capital Improvements. We found that we need to finance many construction projects. In effect, we were faced with the needs of four years. The Advisory Budget Commission decided that critical needs for improvement projects will require $117 million and that certainly we should do no less than this.

In facing these critical needs we followed a very sound and conservative approach in the financing of this program by recommending $47 million in direct appropriations to capital construction.

This means that we shall not have to ask the people for additional bonded indebtedness in the next two years.

The other funds needed for this construction program can be secured from self-liquidating funds, other receipts and a legislative bond issue. Such a legislative bond issue would be only two-thirds of the amount by which the State debt was reduced this biennium.

In considering the "B" Budget requests, major decisions were made in several areas. I will discuss, first of all, education.

The last General Assembly moved our public school program forward swiftly, and our State led the country in the rate of improvement. That took real political courage because they backed up their beliefs with the necessary money. The advance was a major one. The school tax has turned out to be one of the best investments we have ever made for our boys and girls. It cannot be repealed unless we want to repeal school improvements. We don't.

I firmly believe, and there are thousands across this State who believe with me, that the surest way in which we can give our people a better life is to prepare our children to compete effectively in the age in which they live. We will make every effort to give our adults a better opportunity, through better training and more job opportunities, but the fact remains that our soundest investment is in our boys and girls. They still have the time to learn; their lives are not yet shaped to the patterns which restrict so many of us who are older. In them lies the hope of North Carolina.

We are recommending, therefore, that this State invest during the coming two years an additional $51 million in our children. This program will provide:

—a teacher allotment formula which will provide the student more attention in the classroom.

—five days sick leave for teachers, the first and only sick leave teachers have had.

—aid for purchase of high school textbooks, $4 per pupil.

—salary increases for teachers of three per cent in the first year, and two per cent in the second year of the biennium. This is not much but priorities were given to other things by education leaders, including teachers themselves.

—additional equipment for our Industrial Education Centers.

—other improvements in our school bus program, clerical help, and other functions.

In higher education we have many needs. One of the most pressing is the strengthening of our faculties to a point at which they can effectively match other institutions of similar status and character throughout the United States. We recommend that this can be done at a cost of $7 million.

As was pointed out by the Governor's Commission on Education Beyond the High School, we need to convert three of our community colleges into four-year institutions. To convert institutions at Charlotte, Wilmington and Asheville will cost $2 million dollars.

Also, as the Commission's report said we need a system of two-year comprehensive community colleges to offer both college and technical-vocational training. These community colleges are to be developed as part of a large program and should have local support and interest. To begin the development of this important system, the Board of Education needs $1 million dollars.

We turn now to the area of correction. A significant change is being recommended by sizeable increases in Probation and Paroles programs, and a corresponding leveling off of Prison expenditures. Substantial savings to the State should be realized in that it costs approximately twelve times as much to keep a man in prison as it does to supervise him on probation. There are also the indirect savings to the Welfare Department by keeping the man on the job as a wage earner.

Further, the educational and rehabilitation services of the Prison Department have recommended increases. With these improved services, and the improvements recommended in the Paroles and Probation programs, we hope to continue North Carolina's enviable record of a decreasing prison population while the nation's prison population as a whole is increasing.

For mental institutions, we are recommending appropriations of $52 million, an increase of $9 million. This provides for the increase in the number of mentally retarded children coming under the care of our institutions under the "A" Budget concept, and for a significant improvement in the "B" Budget in the level of medical care and treatment service in all of our mental institutions.

Following approval by the voters for the Constitutional amendment authorizing salary increases for the members of the Council of State, we have recommended that the salaries of these elected officials be set at $18,000. These loyal public servants have long been neglected, and I am happy to endorse wholehearted remuneration for their services which will be in keeping with the responsibilities they bear.

The "A" Budget also provides $9 million for our long-established automatic and merit increment program for State employees.

AGRICULTURAL FUND

We are recommending an increase of about $3 million for continued growth and for a number of programs essential to help improve our farm economy. I will mention four. First, our meat and poultry inspection program. Second, the Cooperative Agricultural Extension Service. Third, the food and drug control program, and fourth, the programs of marketing fruit and vegetables.

HIGHWAY FUND

The third major fund is the Highway Fund.

While it is still very strong, this Fund has not exeperienced the exeception-al growth of our General Fund revenue.

Highway Fund revenues are derived almost entirely from the gasoline tax and motor vehicles license fee, supplemented by Federal Aid construction funds.

Since much the greater part of the Highway Fund budget is dedicated to highway construction and maintenance, this Fund cannot be considered in the same way as the General Fund. As soon as a project is begun, the funds for completing that project are encumbered, and there are balances of both State and Federal money, which are carried forward each year for completion of these projects. These factors prohibit a one-sentence analysis.

Let me generalize, however, by saying that there are sufficient revenues in the Highway Fund to continue both the Highway and the Motor Vehicles Departments at generally the same level at which they now operate.

This is no mean accomplishment, in view of the fact that during this biennium we have had the largest secondary road building program since the Scott farm-to-market roads.

Sufficient money is recommended to match all Federal aid construction funds apportioned for North Carolina. As you know, our interstate and primary highway system is being developed as rapidly as possible, and this program will be continued.

However, it would be misleading for me to indicate that we are building all the roads we should. There simply isn't enough money and we have limited our recommendations to money which is now available in existing funds.

The major change in this area is the recommendation to eliminate Highway Fund diversions in the form of gasoline inspection fees not related to the administration of that program, and the cost of prison labor not actually used by the Highway Department. By ending these diversions, $12 million is made available for Secondary Road construction, or an increase of 29% over that which would have otherwise been available.

Also of special significance is the addition of 25 highway patrolmen for the strengthening of our traffic safety program. We may need more. This support, added to our increased attention to traffic safety engineering in highway construction and improvements, should help save lives and property of our people on the highways.

This, then is our Recommended Budget for 1963-65. It is a substantial budget, in that it totals $1.8 billion when Federal and all other funds are added. However, it should be viewed in a proper perspective.

It must be remembered that in North Carolina there are no county roads, no county prisons, and that basic school support is provided by the State. This statewide philosophy has made it possible for us to get more from our tax dollar than any other state in the Union. We move forward with our 7¢ gasoline tax while other states demand the same 7¢, or even 8¢, in state taxes, and then depend on the counties to provide substantial road building and maintenance with revenues from local property taxes.

We must remember, that when we compare North Carolina to all the other states, with all of these factors in mind, we rank 49th in the Nation in the amount which is spent per person for governmental services.

When we compare the number of government employees in the same light, we rank 46th in the Nation.

When we compare the amount of debt each citizen must bear because of these same services, North Carolina ranks 46th.

Even with these comparisons in mind, however, we know that our State has moved to the forefront in many areas. Today, as in years past, we are sensitive to the needs of our people in schools, roads, hospitals, industry, agriculture, and all the facets of this modern world. Yet these services, at a very high standard, are within our means.

The growing needs of a growing people demand a forward-looking budget, a budget that matches the spirit of aggressive progress of North Carolina.

Progress with fiscal integrity is the tradition of North Carolina, and this tradition has been our guiding light in preparing and presenting the Budget for 1963-65".

Following the Governor's address, on motion of Senator Scott, the Joint Assembly dissolves, the Senate repairs to its Chamber, and the House resumes consideration of its business.

3. To postpone indefinitely.
4. To postpone to a day certain.

Rule 20. FORM AND EFFECT OF PREVIOUS QUESTIONS. (a) The Previous Question shall be as follows: "Shall the main question now be put?" When the call for the previous question has been decided in the affirmative by a majority vote of the House, the "main question" is on the passage of the bill, resolution or other matter under consideration, including all pending amendments. If amendments are pending the question shall be taken upon such amendments in inverse order.

(b) The call for the previous question shall preclude all motions, amendments and debate, except the motion to adjourn made prior to the determination of the previous question. Should the motion to adjourn be made prior to the determination of the previous question the House will vote first on the motion to adjourn and then, if the motion to adjourn fails, the members will vote on the call for the previous question.

Rule 23. VOTING BY DIVISION. Any member may call for a division of the members upon the question before the result of the vote has been Rule 24. ROLL CALL VOTE. Before a question is put, any member may call for the ayes and noes; and if the call is sustained by one fifth of the members present, the question shall be decided by the ayes and noes upon a roll call vote, taken alphabetically.

(b) Every member who is in the hall of the House when the question is put shall give his vote upon a call of the ayes and noes, unless the House for special reasons shall excuse him, and no application to be excused from voting or to explain a vote shall be entertained unless made before the call of the roll.

Rule 25. VOTING BY ABSENTEES. (a) No member shall vote on any question when he was not present when the question was put by the Speaker, except by the consent of the House.

(b) If any member is necessarily absent on temporary business of the House when a vote is taken upon any question, upon entering the House he shall be permitted, on request to vote, PROVIDED that the result shall not be affected thereby.

(c) When a member who is present is paired with an absent member, he shall, when his name is called on a roll call vote, announce the pair, which shall be recorded by the clerk.

If the minority report is adopted by majority vote the bill shall be placed on the favorable calendar for consideration. If the minority report fails of adoption by a majority vote, the bill shall be placed on the unfavorable calendar.

The following message is received from the Governor:

FEBRUARY 11, 1963

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly:

The State Government is practicing all of the economy possible while moving forward the essential programs of education and service. The finances of the State have never been in better condition, the budget is balanced, and we will have no serious problem in keeping it balanced.

We are getting our money's worth. Compared to other states our taxes are modest. Because of our unique statewide approach, we rank in the bottom five of the fifty states in tax expenditures, public debt, and in the number of public employees.

Even so, we can have a tax reduction at this time. To help those who need it most, I am recommending that you single out for tax relief the parent with children who must be educated.

While our North Carolina individual income tax law is basically fair and sound the $300.00 personal exemption for dependents is unrealistic in the light of present costs.

I recommend that this exemption be increased to $500.00.

I also recommend that the newsboy sales tax be repealed for the reason it cannot be administered fairly.

We can also afford some relief to those burdened with the costs of illness, so I recommend that prepared medicines be exempt from the sales tax, We excluded prescriptions from the tax at the last session so it is only equitable that we exclude all medicines now.

Sincerely,

(Signed) Terry Sanford, Governor of North Carolina

THIRTEENTH DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, February 20, 1963

The House meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by Mr. Speaker Blue.

Prayer is offered by the Reverend Alphonso Jordan, House Chaplain.

Representative Speed, for the Committee on the Journal, reports the Journal of yesterday has been examined, found correct, and without objection the same stands approved as written.

On motion of Representative Woodard of Wilson the courtesies of the floor are extended the Honorable Wayland Spruill, from Bertie County, fromer member of the House, who approaches the dais and makes a few remarks.

Mr. Speaker Blue recognizes Representative Wilson of Caswell County who addresses the House as follows:

"Mr. Speaker:

The words I bring to you today hurt me to the heart. For several weeks the people of Caswell County have been subjected to an ordeal that can only lead to destroying a good school program. In 1958 the commission that studied our school finance program in North Carolina of which our most capable and dedicated speaker was a member, reported: 'That Caswell County ranks number one in local effort for their public schools.' For this we are proud. The recent events by outsiders have attempted to destroy our schools.

My purpose is to set the records straight and to appeal for help to correct this decision which gave no regard to the feelings of 90% of our citizens. I feel as a prophet crying in the wilderness, yet sir, I represent a county steeped in tradition, embedded in history, and a foundation of this great nation. Time does not allow elaborating on the events of history nor the great statesmen of the past, but the seeds of these are in this Great Hall today.

In 1955 when a suit was entered in District Court by approximately 40 students to enter the white schools of Caswell County, our Board of Education dedicated to their task of upholding the will of 90% of it's citizens, used all legal means to prevent a destruction of our school program. For years this was pending. In 1956 I voted for the resolution of this great body expressing their views to oppose the court decision of 1954. I voted for the so-called "Pearsall Plan," pupil assignment act and any other measure to prevent the destruction of our school program. I love education, and have given my few years to it's principles. Not for monitary reasons but in my small way to help some boy to become a better citizen in order to make Caswell County, North Carolina and our nation a greater one.

In 1961 a decision was handed down to our Board of Education requiring that one colored family be enrolled in a predominately white school. The other cases were dismissed because our Board had not assigned students on the basis of color. The family did not show up for registration and failed to attend any meeting of our Board as requested. Now we did not like this first decision, but the District Judge was most fair to the plaintiff and ruled in his favor. In late '61 the attorney for the colored children carried the case to circuit court and there by a vote with the North Carolina Circuit Judge voting against us, reversed the lower court decision. The gist of this decision was that the District Court ordered their admission to the school of their choice if they should present themselves for enrollment. This decision I quote.

'Every child in the Caswell County school system has the right to attend a school freely selected without regard to race or color. Parent's request for initial assignment of transfer of pupils in order to attend a school with members of the other race will be freely granted. If your child is entering school for the first time, you may present the child for enrollment at any school serving the child's grade level without regard to whether the school is or was formerly attended solely by Negro pupils or solely by white pupils. If your child is now assigned to an all-Negro or an all-white school, and you desire that the child be transferred to another school in order to obtain a desegregated education, you should indicate this desire on this notice in the space provided, and return it to your child's present teacher or principal.'

Now this order required that the Board, ten days before the present semester began, send out notices to over 4,000 parents in the county to secure their intentions of integrating a school in Caswell County. This court order was not served on the county superintendent nor a member of the Board of Education until January 24, 1963, and it was not signed by the District Judge. The court ordered also that notices be sent to every parent 30 days before each school year, without regard to contracts for teachers, assignment of buses and all the administrative details which need to be done now for the next school year. If a plan is submitted and approved by the District Judge, the injunction would be withdrawn. The courts without any regard for state authority or local authority removed control into the hands of the District Judge.

On January 22 sixteen colored children entered three schools in Caswell County. The only incident was the shooting of two white men by Jasper Brown. After carrying his children to the white schools, he paraded around the county seat, riding slowly by the schools, and after having been advised to go home, did not do so. He ran into a car occupied by six men. When they got out, as reported, he began shooting at them. He is out of the state I understand. Newsweek said he cracked under pressure, and that he was a well-to-do tobacco farmer. I would like to add to their statement that his wife was on welfare last year until it was revealed he had a 12 acre tobacco allotment and two farms. Let's have the facts and that is what I wish to do.

Mr. Speaker, we in Caswell County do not like this decision based on outside pressure by people who have never been there. I assure you the environment for study is not present in the integrated schools. These Brown children came from a school accredited by the Southern Association as one of the finest school plants in North Carolina with a large number of teachers with master degrees. I say to you that the good people of Caswell County, white and colored, will have no violence but will exert every legal and honorable method to remove this severe threat to the destruction of a fine school program."

Mr. Speaker Blue recognizes Representative Galifianakis who makes the following statement:

"Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

At the behest of the Speaker and in accordance with the wishes of the incomparable gentleman from Orange County, Mr. John Umstead, I visited the Umstead Hospital at Butner, North Carolina to investigate a fire that had occurred on a 2nd floor ward on Monday, February 18, 1963. The following information is reported to this body:

There were 43 non-ambulatory patients confined to the ward in question at the time that the attendant detected smoldering smoke and sudden flames. Immediate action was taken by the attendant in sounding the fire alarm and procuring assistance for prompt and orderly evacuation of the patients. Forty-two patients were carried out by hospital personnel and only one patient managed to leave the ward on his own accord.

Commendations are certainly in order for the splendid efforts on the part of the hospital personnel who gallantly removed these helpless patients from the burning ward to safety. I know that we extend our congratulations and many thanks for their outstanding job.

It appeared that the fire started in a clean linen closet which had floor space, 9' by 9', and which was fully stored with sheets, blankets, pillow cases and towels. I concurred in the speculation that the fire probably started from the ash of a cigarette.

There were no injuries to the personnel except minor suffocation on the part of three patients.

Damage to the physical premises of the ward consisted of destruction of the linen closet door and extensive smoke damage amounting to approximately $2,500.

One corrective measure consisting of placing "Absolutely No Smoking" signs on linen closet doors and other similar type doors is suggested. While the building is fire proof and while the resulting damages to personnel and property in this case is comparatively small the consequences that could have resulted are frightening. Because of the inadequate number of attendants making rounds on the various wards, 43 lives could have been exterminated before the fire could be extinguished. Had this particular attendant been five minutes late this devastating result would have been probable.

This fire incident demonstrates the dire need for additional personnel at Umstead Hospital and at the other facilities there. This enterprise is of major concern to the State and it behooves the interest of all of us as representatives to acquaint ourselves with its problems. Mr. Aiken, the Superintendent of Umstead Hospital, has extended an invitation to all of you to come to the premises and see the activities that are conducted there.

I would urge each of you to attend. It will be an intensively human experience for you."

SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

February 28, 1963

Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly:

For the State of North Carolina and the Department of Conservation and Development, I extend an invitation to the Members of the General Assembly, their wives or husbands, to attend the 1963 North Carolina Trade Fair being held at Charlotte, April 27 to May 4, 1963, the day to be selected by you.

The first North Carolina Trade Fair was opened by act of President John F. Kennedy on October 12, 1961, and served the people of the State of North Carolina through attracting more than 200,000 visitors from thirty-six states and thirty-two foreign countries. The Trade Fair thereby fostered a greatly expanded foreign and domestic trade with North Carolina industries for North Carolina products.

The Second Trade Fair will again highlight the diversification of our industry and economy with more than two hundred exhibitors participating. Both national and international buyers and visitors will learn more about the skill of our people and the products they produce. This again will enhance the demand in foreign and domestic markets for North Carolina products.

Attendance at the Trade Fair by our State Legislative Body will add to the prestige of this North Carolina event. Of importance, also, Members of the Legislature will view at one location the many products and services of which North Carolina can be justifiably proud.

Sincerely,

(Signed) Terry Sanford
Governor of North Carolina

STATEMENT BY MEMBERS

"Mr. Speaker, and Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

We oppose the granting of an increase in salaries for the Mayor and Councilmen of the City of Greensboro. This is not the way to establish economy in Government. Since we advocate "home rule" as the best type of government, and since the salary increases were recommended by the present Mayor and present City Councilmen. We will not object to increases provided in House Bill No. 117.

Home rule is the greatest safeguard that citizens have for preserving individual liberty. It is for that reason that we support House Bill No. 117 and we do so with the full knowledge that the Greensboro City Council is directly responsible to the citizens of Greensboro for proper administration of local government.

We request that this statement be recorded in the Journal."

Prayer is offered by the Reverend Alphonso Jordan, House Chaplain.

Representative Hill, for the Committee on the Journal, reports that the Journal of yesterday has been examined, found to be correct, and without objection stands approved as written.

Mr. Speaker Blue makes the following remarks to the House:

"It was with genuine regret that I learned this morning of the resignation of the Honorable John W. Umstead, Jr. as a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives.

John Umstead was the senior member of the House in point of continuous service. In Mr. Umstead's resignation the House of Representatives and the people of North Carolina lose one of our greatest citizens from Legislative life.

John Umstead's stewardship in the General Assembly in behalf of our mentally ill is unsurpassed in Tar Heel History. His work for better public schools and for adequate institutions of higher learning are such as to challenge the admiration of our entire citizenship.

I hope and pray that Mr. Umstead's health will permit him to carry on as Chairman of the State Hospitals Board of Control and as a member of the University of the North Carolina Board of Trustees, in positions where he has served long and faithfully.

The man who will succeed John Umstead as Representative of Orange County will find the biggest shoes in the House to fill.

We are sad at Mr. Umstead's resignation but because of his service and because of his dedication North Carolina is a far better place in which to live for thousands upon thousands of Tar Heel citizens."

The Committee heard from Mrs. Hughey, the State Librarian.

Mrs. Hughey states that, at present, she had available duplicate materials in the State Library which could be transferred to the Legislative Library for use during the Legislative Session.

After all suggestions were made, on motion of Representative Drummond of Forsyth, seconded by Representative Carroll of Guilford, the above suggestions were adopted. The motion was carried unanimously.

Governor Sanford is presented to the Joint Assembly by Mr. President Stone.

His Excellency, Governor Sanford, makes the following address to the Joint Session:

ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR TERRY SANFORD

TO

JOINT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Mr. President

Mr. Speaker

Members of the North Carolina General Assembly:

I thank you for the advantage of appearing before you, rather than dispatching a written message, because this subject requires all the prominence we can gain for it. You and I need the attention and concern of the public, because in the normal course of things you are not going to win any popularity contest working with the problems of highway safety.

The ones who are pinched by traffic laws often complain, and often bitterly, and the ones whose lives are saved never know it.

Project Impact, an experiment in six counties, saved at least 19 lives. Those 19 people should be up here lobbying for an extension of that experiment to all of the state, but they are not, for it is obvious that they cannot be identified because no one knows where misfortune might have struck had it not been for this official safety action.

But they are alive, and many others avoided painful or disabling injuries, and many hundreds of others can be saved in the future if the public will understand and support our efforts.

The problem is that in 1962, in just one calendar year, 1320 people lost their lives, 37,000 persons were injured, and 200 million dollars were lost on the highways of North Carolina, just one of 50 states. Think of that. 1320 dead. 37,000 injured. $200,000,000. Just one year, just one state.

Automobile wrecks are the sixth leading cause of death in the United States.

Automobile wrecks are the number one cause of death among young people from five to twenty-five.

This is an epidemic. You are the doctors.

Your immediate reaction to this staggering description of destruction might be one of hopelessness. We are tempted to wring our hands in despair, or to reach out for one simple, single cure-all.

We cannot afford to do either. We know from our own North Carolina experiences that we can whittle away at the destruction by the systematic action exerted by public officials.

In 1935 we had 1095 people killed, and in 1962 we had jumped up 225 beyond this figure. This is much better than it seems. In 1935 we had only a half million vehicles traveling only 4 billion miles. The death rate was 26 for every 100 million miles of travel. In 1962, with 2 million cars, the rate of death was 6.2 per 100 million miles. So you can see that we have been making progress, for if the 1935 rate had not been reduced, we would have lost more than 5000 North Carolinians in 1962.

Last year, for the first time since 1941, the number of Americans killed in automobile accidents climbed back up to more than 41,000. This shows that for a period of 20 years we were successful in holding the line. But 1962 showed us that we are unable to hold the line any longer with the present resources.

Many areas in the country have been able to achieve dramatic reductions in traffic accidents through the use of what is known as "the managed approach". This is the approach which has been re-emphasized in North Carolina in the last several months. First, to define a total program and to mobilize public participation, we organized the North Carolina Traffic Safety Council, consisting of leading citizens, employing a professional staff, paid for from private non-tax funds. Then we called together all state officials with traffic safety responsibilities, and constituted them the Governor's Coordinating Committee for Traffic Safety. (Representatives of the General Assembly, Health, Education, Justice, Motor Vehicles, Insurance, Highways, Institute of Government, and Safety Council).

I want to assure you that no one feels that the traffic accident problem will be solved by the simple passing of laws. This is a job for everybody, and the most important responsibility falls to the understanding citizen who is willing to support the necessary official action. These two organizations concern themselves with a number of avenues through which official and unofficial action must be exerted, including: accident records, laws and ordinances, engineering, education, police traffic supervision, motor vehicle administration, traffic courts, public information, and organized citizen support. We are working on all of these. Today we look to our legislative part in the total effort. I am suggesting nine points for your consideration.

The Coordinating Committee, using studies of accident records as a foundation, has agreed on two things: (1) the most important causes of accidents, (2) the means to controlling or eliminating these causes.

Therefore the suggestions I am about to make are not the result of one man's investigation nor are they any so-called pet projects of individual state agencies. Rather they are the result of agreement by public officials in every phase of accident preventive work, and are related directly to the accidents now occurring on highways in our own State of North Carolina.

1. COORDINATING COMMITTEE

We need to provide for the continuing coordination of official traffic safety effort, and North Carolina's official agencies with traffic safety responsibilities should be bound together by statutory authority. This has worked well, but the united effort should not be dependent on the mere invitation of the Chief Executive, but should be given the status of being a creation of the General Assembly. This would require no money. The role of such a Coordinating Committee on Traffic Safety, similar to the one already existing by invitation of the Governor, would be to examine continually the accident problems of North Carolina, to determine the needs of the represented agencies in dealing with these problems, to determine the priorities to be given these needs, and to provide for continuing coordination of the state's accident preventive efforts. In this way we would have a single group charged with the leadership in reducing highway wrecks. This committee should include in its membership representatives of the General Assembly, perhaps the chairman of each committee on highway safety, thus obtaining spokesmen for the legislative bodies.

2. COURTS

Implementation of the court improvement amendments will contribute much to traffic accident prevention, and I hope you will do all that you can to assure the orderly adoption of a uniform court system in the state. I realize that we cannot move too hastily in arranging these complex provisions which must be designed to serve for perhaps a hundred years, but I do hope you will at least adopt the recommendations of the North Carolina Bar Association.

3. INTERSTATE COMPACTS

In accordance with legislation recommended by your Commission on Interstate Cooperation, I urge the adoption of interstate compacts dealing with drivers licenses and motor vehicle safety equipment. These two compacts will help protect our citizens from unsafe drivers who accumulate records of accidents and violations in a number of states and will help assure the prompt adoption of uniform standards for new motor vehicle safety equipment.

4. THE POINT SYSTEM

The point system has worked well, but there are certain loopholes which should be closed. The system should reflect the factual realities of a driver's conduct as decided by a court, and not courtroom technicalities which allow evasion of the point system.

5. ADDITIONAL PATROLMEN

We know additional patrolmen will reduce accidents. Elimination of paper work with insurance reports, if you see fit to enact this, will free many, but we probably could make out a case for needing several hundred more patrolmen. We cannot afford this many, but we should add as many as possible during the next biennium.

6. SEAT BELTS

Experts call the seat belt the most important safety device that can be added to a motor vehicle. One thing we know positively is that seat belts save lives, and that its use reduces greatly the chance of getting killed if you are involved in an accident. We are not suggesting that we require them on all cars but we do recommend them for all cars. We are asking simply that they be required on new cars in the future, just as safety glass is required. I hope you will pass the bill now pending.

7. BEGINNING DRIVERS

I don't believe in blaming teenagers for all of our problems. There is too much of that. Neither do I believe in putting them in any dangerous situation without adequate training and advice, and that is exactly what we have been doing.

Our accident records show that drivers under the age of 20 have more than twice their share of accidents occurring in the driving population. This is pretty good evidence we have been placing them in a dangerous and deadly situation without proper care.

I believe most parents and most young people believe we can attack this problem without penalizing young people.

Perhaps our best approach would be to require driver education in the school system or in the Motor Vehicles Department driver training program, for all new drivers under the age of 18. We could waive or relax their requirement in the few places where such training is not available. We would be saving young lives if we also added a requirement for the issuance of a provisional license for all drivers under the age of 20. We should also make training available before the sixteenth birthday.

We are not meeting our duty as parents unless we do provide some safeguards, and ultimately our best hope for a lasting solution of the traffic accident problem is driver education.

8. TESTS FOR ALCOHOL

This always runs into opposition, but how can we turn away from the clear proof that one-third of all of North Carolina's fatal accidents involve a drinking driver. The non-drinking driver is entitled to what protection we can give him, and we are not giving him very much.

We need a chemical test law requiring persons accused of driving under the influence to take a scientific test to determine how much they have been drinking. We should make it simple, perhaps the breath test. I believe this would be a strong deterrent.

First, we could take one of two approaches. We could require this as additional proof under the existing laws and drivers license penalties.

As an alternative, we could make it simply against the law to be a drinking driver by specifying that driving with a specified percentage content of alcohol is against the law, coupled with a provision that the Commissioner could revoke the license for not more than one year in place of the present mandatory revocation for one full year as the penalty for driving under the influence of alcohol. This latter course would be preferable because it would eliminate the doubtful situation of attempting to define "under the influence" and would give the Commissioner discretion in individual cases.

9. CHECK OF SAFETY EQUIPMENT

I am opposed to the mechanical inspection we found so burdensome, but I am far more opposed to neglecting to check the safety equipment which we require on automobiles for the purpose of saving lives. I think a periodic check of the five or six items on a motor vehicle relating to our safety (breaks, horn, tires, steering, lights, windshield wiper) at any garage or service station which cares to qualify for approval, would reduce substantially our deaths. Not only would a safety check program require safe equipment, but it would create an increased awareness of safety on the part of every individual driver. Records in other states, as well as our own records, demonstrate a safety check would reduce materially highway accidents.

Those are the items. I leave the details to you. These are simple things, and yet they are substantial things. These do not increase the encroachment upon individual liberties. Rather they enhance individual liberty, and improve the chance we all seek to lead a healthy and productive life.

We look to you for the leadership which will call to a halt the increasing epidemic of traffic deaths and injuries.

After the Governor's address, on motion of Senator Scott, the Joint Assembly dissolves, the Senate repairs to its chambers and the House resumes consideration of its business.

SIXTY-FIRST DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, April 17, 1963

The House meets at Hall's Creek, North Carolina, pursuant to adjournment and to S. R. 151, entitled, "a joint resolution providing for a session of the General Assembly to be held at the site of the first meeting of a Legislative Body ever assembled in our State in Pasquotank County", and is called to order by Mr. Speaker Blue.

Prayer is offered by the Reverend Alphonso Jordan, House Chaplain.

Representative Uzzell, for the Committee on the Journal, reports the Journal of yesterday has been examined, found correct, and without objection the same stands approved as written.

Mr. Speaker Blue appoints the following pagettes and pages to serve during this session: Charlie Neal, Chief Page; Linda Small, Kittie Laughinghouse, Anne Foreman, Nancy Wood Foreman, Blair Foreman, Phyllis Reid, Margaret Ann Davis, Jimmy Hart, Walden M. Hearn, Clarke Bright, Ralph Capps and Steve Morrisette.

Representative Baker welcomes the members and guests to this hallowed ground as follows:

"Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honored Guests, Members of the General Assembly and Neighbors, we are met here on this hallowed ground to pay our respects to our forebearers who first met here nearly 300 years ago—and to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the granting of the Carolina Charter to the Lords Proprietors who in turn called for the meeting of their representatives on this site.

In 1663 King Charles II granted to eight noblemen of His Court a tract of land reaching from the northern shores of Albemarle Sound to St. John's River in Florida, and from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific Ocean.

In 1665 the Albemarle Region, as it came to be called, comprising the four ancient counties of Currituck, Pasquotank, Perquimans and Chowan, had become very valuable on account of the rich plantations established therein by such men as George Durant, of Perquimans, and Valentine Byrd, of Pasquotank.

William Drummond, whom Berkeley, of Virginia, had appointed to govern this Albemarle Country, came into Carolina in 1664, and assumed the reins of government. To assist him in his arduous duties, the Lords authorized Berkeley to appoint six of the most prominent men in the settlement to form what came to be known as the Governor's Council. This body of men, with the Governor, acted for many years as the Judicial Department of the State, and also corresponded to what is now the Senate Chamber in our Legislative Department.

In the Fall of 1664, Governor Drummond began organizing the government of his new Province; and on February 6, 1665, the "Grand Assembly of Albemarle," as these early law-makers styled themselves, met to frame a set of laws for this Albemarle Colony. The place chosen for the meeting of this first Legislative Body ever assembled in our State, was a little knoll overlooking Hall's Creek in Pasquotank County, about a mile from Nixonton, a small town which was chartered nearly a hundred years later.

No record of the names of these hardy settlers who were present at this Grand Assembly has been handed down to us; but on such an important occasion we may be sure that all the prominent men in the Albemarle Region who could attend would make it a point to do so.

We may imagine the scene: Under the spreading boughs of a lordly oak, this group of men were gathered. Around them the dark forest stretched, the wind murmuring in the pines and fragrant with the aromatic color of the spicy needles.

At a distance a group of red men, silent and immovable, some with bow and arrow in hand, leaning against the trees, others sitting on the ground, gazed with wondering eyes upon the palefaces assembled for their first great pow-wow.

Down at the foot of the knoll the silver waves of the creek rippled softly against the shore; on its waters the sloops of the planters from the settlements nearby; here and there on its bosom, an Indian canoe moored close to its shores.

As to the work accomplished by this first Albemarle Assembly, only one fact is certain, and that is the drawing up by the members of a petition to the Lords Proprietors, begging that these settlers in Carolina should be allowed to hold their lands on the same conditions and terms as the people of Virginia, to which the Lords graciously consented.

Doubtless other laws were enacted, such as were necessary for the settlement, though no record of them is extant. And then, the business that called them together having been transacted, and the wheels of government set in motion, these early law-makers returned home, to manor house and log cabin, to the care of the great plantations, to the plow, and the wild, free life of the hunter and trapper; and a new government had been born.

As to the statement that the place marked by the tablet was the scene of the meeting of our first assemblymen, tradition again is responsible. But such authorities as Captain Ashe, and various members of the State Historical Commission, accept the tradition as a fact. And all old residents of Nixonton assert that their fathers and grandfathers handed the story down to them.

Many other happenings of great historical importance first occurred in our Albemarle, and these will be pointed out to you as our day of celebration winds through the Albemarle—enjoy yourselves—have fun—but take a moment to reflect seriously on our heritage—the right to assemble for the purpose of governing ourselves—this is the birthplace of that right in North Carolina."

Mr. Speaker Blue expresses appreciation of all and makes the following remarks:

"Ladies and Gentlemen:

For the General Assembly to meet at Hall's Creek in Pasquotank County where the first Grand Assembly of the Albemarle met on February 6, 1665, 298 years ago is historic and adds a red letter day for the 1963 Legislature.

It is thrilling to meet here on the soil of Culpepper's Rebellion of 1677, called by many the initial act for American Independence.

In a session of the General Assembly with education as the central theme, it's well to meet on ground near where Charles Griffin's schoolhouse was located and served during the year 1706, which marked the inception of formal education in North Carolina.

A long time ago someone said: "He who careth not whence he came careth not whither he goeth".

I am sure that the descendants of those hardy pioneers, who here nearly 300 years ago, erected schoolhouses for the education of their young, churches where they praised their Creator, and cemeteries where rest the ashes of their dead, careth from whence they came and whither they goeth.

It is indeed a privilege for the legislators of 1963 to be here in the very cradle of North Carolina government and democracy.

May the high ideals and traditions of those great leaders of the Albemarle section of North Carolina, and Hall's Creek in particular be ever cherished and held high.

It is pleasant to be in Pasquotank County which has contributed so much to good government and able leadership in North Carolina."

STATEMENT BY MEMBERS

"Although I have heard it remarked that a closed mouth gathers no feet, nevertheless, I would like to say that I oppose this bill for the following reasons.

I oppose this community college program because I do not believe that it will fulfill the purpose for which it was intended. I believe that the quality of education which would be provided is far too low. I believe that the program will adversely affect other colleges, helping to defeat its own purpose. I believe that the program would affect only a small portion of those who should be affected.

It is my opinion that we cannot afford such a program as this at this time.

It is my opinion that the plan for continuance of these colleges does not seem to be practical or stable.

And it is my opinion that the community college program is based upon statements and statistics that are at times misleading and questionable.

The ultimate purpose of the community college program is to rapidly increase the educational level of our people. The community college program will not achieve this goal. The quality of education which would be provided would be far too low. In the Carlyle report on page 74 it states that "there should be a place in the community college for every high school graduate who aspires to further education."

And yet on page 16 it states that "Neither individuals nor the state will be benefited by masquerading mass production of mediocrity under the guise of higher education."

And on page 82 it discusses the quality of our present students showing that there are appalling differences in the quality of our freshmen being accepted at some of our public colleges already. And it states that "The plain implication is that some students are entering the public colleges who should not be there."

The Carlyle report therefore admits that this program will be providing colleges for more and more students who have less and less ability for college training.

Regarding our public colleges—Wilmington, Appalachian, Penbroke, Asheville-Biltmore, East Carolina, West Carolina—What will happen to the student population of these colleges if a community college is established only 20 or 30 miles away? Already over 90 percent of our state's population lies within 25 miles of a college, so that there is almost no area in the state where the establishment of a community college would not seriously affect some other college. Students will certainly seek the college which is nearest to their homes and which extends the best financial enticements.

What will happen to the problem of getting adequate appropriations for these public colleges? Our public colleges already have difficulty obtaining the appropriations they need for libraries, dormitories, faculties, and other expenses. It would be absurd to imply that our existing public schools would not be denied appropriations they might otherwise get in future years should this community college program be commenced.

And our private colleges—Montreat, Mars Hill, Mitchell, Chowan, St. Andrews, Pfeifer, Brevard, Wake Forest, Duke—What will happen to their student populations if a community college is set up within 20 or 30 miles? These community colleges (or you might say "discount colleges") would lure away vast members of students because of the economic differential.

Will these discount colleges not also lure away the teachers from the private colleges also? On page 8 of the Carlyle report the recommendation is made that "faculty salaries in the public institutions be increased to and maintained at levels that will constitute fair compensation and will compare favorably with salaries offered by those institutions with which we must compete . . ."

What private college would not like to have the same arrangements for enticing students as these community colleges would have, where the students only pay for about 20 percent of the total cost of operations? The Carlyle report states that "one of the chief advantages of the community college is the economy to the student . . ." This is perhaps the only advantage. And don't think that the private colleges aren't aware of it.

The Carlyle report admits the advantage they have (on page 74) where it states that "Care should be taken to assure that the . . . existing institutions are . . . not unfairly disadvantaged by the proliferation of additional public institutions." I wonder what would be considered a fair disadvantage.

If these community colleges will result in taking students from both public and private colleges as well as taking teachers from them, how can we help but feel that it is (in a sense) defeating its own purpose.

Certainly one of the primary reasons why our present private colleges do not expand to relieve the problem of overcrowded schools is because of the threat that the community college presents to their financial security.

This community college program would affect only a small portion of those who should be affected. The Carlyle report indicates that only about half of our first grade students ever graduate from high school. On page 29 of this report it states that only 36.9 percent of the 1961 high school graduates entered college during the year 1961. The information on page 33 would show that less than 20 percent of these high school graduates entered public colleges (both senior and junior) during 1961.

On page 86 of the Carlyle report the indication is that of these high school graduates entering public colleges approximately 28 percent of them withdrew during their first year. This means then, that this vast, all encompassing community college program would affect only a small portion of our college age persons.

I do not believe that we can afford such a program as this at this time. Ladies and gentlemen—A program such as this which affects such a small number of our children with such questionable benefits needs to be studied carefully and with trepidation.

We all know that once a program such as this gets underway that it is almost impossible to turn it back. Are we satisfied with the meagre benefits that it will provide? Are we sure that we will be able to finance such a program in seven, ten or twenty years when our financial stability may be much different than it is now? We are already trying to spend every last cent we can get from the public with a new cry every few years for additional taxes so that we can spend more.

What is this program going to cost? How much will it cost in ten years, should we go ahead with the 15 community colleges the Carlyle report recommends (and they recommend them immediately)?

I believe that it is unwise to establish such a program at this time. I believe that we cannot afford a program such as this which will cost us far more than only one million dollars every biennium when it gets into full swing. And I don't think our people want to be taxed to support it. I wonder how many of you have told your people what it will cost them in taxes in ten years from now.

The plan for continuance of these colleges does not seem to me to be practical or stable. It is my understanding that this program requires local funds to support it although I am not clear on the exact amount of these requirements. It is clear that if the community should cut off the funds at any time then the college will cease to exist. This seems to be a rather precarious position.

I have a strong suspicion that should any community either cut off any support or not provide the required support, it wouldn't be long before the General Assembly would provide the additional support needed resulting in full support (or at least more complete support) by the state. And this means additional taxes.

This community college program is based upon statements and statistics that are at times misleading, questionable and conflicting. On one page of the report it states that they want to see the private institutions flourish (Page 18). On another page they speak of having to compete with other institutions. And in still another place it states that we "cannot afford to spend time and resources in competition for selfish advantage." (Page 113).

On page 66 the table regarding the effect of presence of college on college attendance does not present a true picture. It fails to show any "before and after" affect, but only shows the "after" affect under different circumstances. And although the conclusion to be drawn from this chart is not entirely inaccurate, the chart is, nevertheless, misleading.

On page 32 it states that "1,600 qualified persons were denied admission to our public institutions of higher education . . ." "Private institutions turned away 3,000 . . ." I question whether these numbers do not represent applications rather than persons. It is rather well known that many persons apply to three or more colleges before they are accepted.

Also, I question how true these facts are regarding applications—at least from the private colleges. Many of them might want it to appear that they were operating at capacity level when they actually are not, and pad the figures accordingly.

It might be interesting to know that in 1957 a firm (Englehart, Englehart, Liggett & Cornell of New York City) made a private impartial study of our state's educational needs at a cost of around $75,000. The completed study was not made use of for this Carlyle report for reasons which I think you can conclude just as well as I can.

It is my opinion that this community college program cannot adequately fulfill the purpose for which it was intended. What we need in our state is not more help for those few high school graduates who might be able to get through college. We need help for those students who are never able to get to college or who are never able to get through high school. Where this state needs help is in the high schools and elementary schools. With only about one half of our first graders ever graduating from high school, with less than 20 percent of our high schools accredited, with only a third of our adults being high school graduates, what we need is not community colleges, but better high schools and better means for keeping our students in high school until they graduate.

This community college program is one more step in a series of socialistic trends throughout the country. Although the Carlyle report admits that no college or university can exist unless the faculty has academic freedom (page 93) it nevertheless states (on pages 17) that "The state must have, in short, a functioning system of public higher education and not a mere aggregation of independent institutions, each pursuing its own conception of the public interest." If this is true of public higher education, it is equally true of both public and private education.

This community college program is one more step towards bigger and costlier government. We already spend almost one half of our budget on education. This program would open up great new areas for political expansion of our state's control. Almost a pandora's box when you look at what it could be twenty years from now. Certainly the money involved in the years to come would amount to many tens of millions of dollars.

Under all these conditions and considerations, I cannot, for myself and for my people approve of such a program.

EIGHTY-FIRST DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, May 10, 1963

The House meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by Mr. Speaker Blue.

Prayer is offered by the Reverend Alphonso Jordan, House Chaplain.

Representative Speed, for the Committee on the Journal, reports that the Journal of yesterday has been examined, found correct, and without objection the same stands approved as written.

The Chair orders the following report spread on the Journal.

REPORT TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES BY CHANCELLOR JOHN T. CALDWELL AND PRESIDENT WILLIAM FRIDAY IN RESPONSE TO A RESOLUTION OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES ADOPTED ON APRIL 11, 1963.

In a resolution adopted by the House of Representatives on April 11, 1963 we are asked to restudy action taken by the University on May 22, 1961, to discontinue the annual Dixie Classic basketball tournment and to give serious consideration to the feasibility and desirability of reinstating it. We willingly comply with the request and do so readily since the question arises in an area of activity that is continuously before us as a matter explicit administrative responsibility.

Before stating our conclusion respecting the feasibility and desirability of restoring the tournament, perhaps it would be appropriate to say a word about its history and briefly review the events and reasoning which led to its abandonment.

The Dixie Classic was started in 1949 as a natural accompaniment of the increasing popularity of basketball as a spectator sport. The tournament was held during the Christmas holiday season and some of the most accomplished college teams of the nation were invited to play against the teams of this region. The Classic soon became established as one of the outstanding offerings on the American calendar of sporting events and every year it attracted many visitors to the City of Raleigh for the three-day duration of the tournament.

One development associated with the increased popularity of tournament basketball in the years following World War II and the greatly accentuated competition among collegiate teams aroused apprehension among educators and other admirers of the sport; it was the disclosure in 1951 that the scores or actual results of a number of games had been deliberately influenced by players who had accepted bribes from professional gamblers.

It was plain from these events that the game was susceptible of manipulation and that players on successful teams were being subjected to improper influences. The scandals seemed to be centered in New York City and were regarded as having affected only a few institutions remote from North Carolina.

Within a few years, however, it became apparent that we were not immune to the influences which were affecting the sport in other parts of the country. The first indications were not in the form of indictments for bribery, but punitive actions taken by the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference against our institutions for infractions of regulations.

In May, 1954, North Carolina State College was placed on probation by the NCAA for violating regulations concerning recruitment of players and denied the privilege of participation in the NCAA championship play for one year.

In November 1956, State College was again penalized by the NCAA for irregularities connected with the recruitment of a player. The penalty was probationary status for a period of four years.

In January 1961, the NCAA placed the University of Chapel Hill on probation for one year in basketball for violating regulations governing the entertainment of prospective student-athletes.

In the spring of 1961, it was found that several players at State College and the University at Chapel Hill had been involved in bribery. In March, one student was permitted to withdraw from the University at Chapel Hill for participation in bribery. In May, another student at the University was suspended for "initial misstatment and subsequent concealment" of facts relevant to bribery attempts.

In May, 1961, two basketball players at State College, who were temporarily not in residence, were informed that they would not be permitted to re-enter the College because of participation in bribery. At the same time, another State College player was dismissed for the same offense.

During the five years between 1956 and 1961, the Atlantic Coast Conference found it necessary on three occasions to impose a fine or take other disciplinary measures affecting one of our teams.

The foregoing events were recited to the Trustees at the time the University took measures, including discontinuance of the Dixie Classic, to stem the deterioration that had befallen the sport and to announce its resolve to keep a sensible perspective on the place of intercollegiate athletics in education. A problem of disproportionate emphasis had now become an issue of moral value. To us there could be but one response, we must declare in unmistakable terms that the University of North Carolina would not brook endlessly the humiliation of being repeatedly called to account and repeatedly disciplined by outside regulative agencies for infractions which the University itself should be competent to prevent.

The University stopped short of suspending or discontinuing inter-collegiate competition in basketball. It stopped short of eliminating the practice of subsidizing players through athletic grants-in-aid. It instituted moderate changes aimed at restoring balance in the conduct of a sport which was getting out of hand.

To remove one of the easy avenues by which players were being drawn into unsavory schemes, the University forbade members of its teams to engage in organized competitions then being sponsored by summer resorts near metropolitan centers.

To reduce the disproportionate number of students that were being drawn from outside the Conference area to play on our teams and to organize squards that would be more representative of the undergraduate student body, we decided to reduce the number of athletic grants-in-aid that could be awarded in basketball and football to students from states outside the Atlantic Coast Conference area. It was subsequently decided that this limitation was no longer necessary to accomplish the desired result, and so it was relaxed.

To curtail the number of games that our teams would play in a given year and to preclude an overextended season in intercollegiate competition the number of games was restricted to: (a) the 14 games required by Conference rules; (b) the ACC tournament; (c) the National Collegiate Basketball Championship; (d) not more than two additional games in a season with non-Conference teams in other than Atlantic Coast Conference or NCAA Championship tournament play.

The effect of this was to discontinue the Dixie Classic, and the action was explained as follows: "Holiday tournaments, of which the Dixie Classic is a prominent example, conducted at a time when college is not in session, exemplify the exploitation for public entertainment or for budgetary and commercial purposes of a sports program which properly exists as an adjunct to collegiate education. These tournaments subject the students, the coaches, and the colleges to unnecessary demands and unwise distractions."

In the period since May, 1961, the limitation of the number of regular season games has been relaxed. So, the principal remaining element among the self-regarding steps that were taken is the elimination of the Dixie Classic. Only one further infraction of regulations has come to light since the actions were taken; that was the disclosure in 1962 that a player on the State College basketball team of 1959 had received $1,000 as a bribe with the understanding that in a game to be played in the Dixie Classic between State College and Dayton University on December 28, 1959, he would attempt to have State College lose by more than four points. In appearance before the Wake County Grand Jury and the Wake County Superior Court, the student in question subsequently testified to the facts stated above.

The problem of keeping intercollegiate athletics in a constructive relationship to educational purposes has persisted for a long time. The scope of athletic programs and the constancy of public interest in them are acknowledged features of American college life.

Accepting this concept, and seeking with the help of constructive public interest and understanding to maintain the best possible philosophy and program of athletics, we have reduced the number of problems and abuses in athletic affairs. We do not entertain the thought that any policy is perfect; however, responding to the request made of us, it is our judgment that our present position, including the discontinuance of the Dixie Classic, is a sound and defensible one among the solutions that are possible.

We value the benefits that students derive from participating in athletics. We recognize the advantages to our institutions that result from successful athletic teams and athletic programs. We want our teams to stand with the best. We want to do these things consistently with a sound concept of educational values.

Because of the responsibility which expressly has been placed in our hands, we feel a deep obligation to continue such judgments as will best sustain the soundness of our institutions morally and academically. In this endeavor we solicit the continued support, forebearance, and understanding of the General Assembly.

This report is respectfully submitted to the House of Representatives on May 10, 1963, by

EIGHTY-FOURTH DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 14, 1963

Pursuant to resolution heretofore adopted the General Assembly assembles in the auditorium of Western Carolina College at Cullowhee, North Carolina, where Dr. Paul Reid, President, welcomes the Assembly as follows:

"On behalf of more than 2000 students, 110 faculty members, the Board of Trustees and the citizens of this mountain county I extend a hearty welcome to the Governor, members of the Council of State, members of the General Assembly, your wives and staff to the campus of Western Carolina College.

In addition we are glad to have members of the press, radio, television and all visitors for this historic event in Western North Carolina.

We are honored to have you here and we hope your stay, brief as it is, will be enjoyable. Since this is the first visit for many of you to Western North Carolina we hope you will enjoy this region so much that you will come often. Learn with us who live and work here the deep meaning of the Bible quotation: 'I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help'.

In 300 years of state government, this day marks the first time the General Assembly has met in our mountain region west of the Blue Ridge. Therefore, the entire citizenry of this area has a special interest in the proceedings here today.

Your presence on this campus has special meaning to me, personally, certainly in two respects: (1) many of you and your wives are former students of mine at this college or in the public schools where I have served; (2) this visit, which includes numbers of legislators with whom it has been my privilege to work closely through the years, is the highlight of 38 years of service to the state in education. I might add that that I do not anticipate any experience in the future which will surpass your presence here today. Sincere thanks from a grateful heart.

As you entered the campus you no doubt noticed an historical marker which indicated the founding date as 1889. The founder was Professor Robert Lee Madison of Lexington, Virginia, whose father was the personal physician of General Robert E. Lee. Professor Madison left Virginia with the desire to found a teacher training institution somewhere in these mountains and he finally settled upon Cullowhee. From lowly beginnings and almost failure at times Professor Madison's idea has resulted in an institution of more than 2000 well qualified students.

Without your efforts and those of former legislators the college would never have materialized into that which it is today. I speak the gratitude of thousands of alumni many of whom would never have secured a college education except for your efforts in their behalf.

The facilities you provided in recent years made possible a phenomenal enrollment growth from 606 in 1950 to 2122 on campus students this year.

Please note on the walls the 77 counties represented in the student body and the number from each county.

For making all of this possible we thank you and the others who are not present today.

On campus tour you saw the high quality of the physical facilities but of far more importance are the human resources. To your left and to your right are the students. We present them to you as young men and young women in whom you can have much pride and satisfaction.

For your visit let me mention just two of their many activities.

On Friday morning of last week I came to the student assembly wondering about flags for this occasion. To my delight the freshman class had purchased these two flags and they were on the wall.

Another indication of the quality of our student body is their action in voting upon themselves a fee of one dollar per quarter with which to launch the Alumni News which you find on your improvised desk. You will note that your presence is recognized by a picture of your State Legislative Building.

Another human resource with which the college is most fortunate is an able and dedicated faculty. The faculty, with their wives, are here today to pay honor to your visit.

In conclusion—apart from your willingness to make the visit, there was the problem of transportation. On behalf of all of us in Western North Carolina, we express sincere appreciation to the Southern Railway and the Queen City and Smoky Mountain Trailways for providing the transportation which made the trip possible.

As all of you visitors realize, we live in a paradise of nature and we would like to share it with you in the future. We are happy you are here and we hope you will visit us often."

JOINT SESSION

President Stone calls the Joint Session to order.

Prayer is offered by the Reverend James Lambert, Scotts Creek Baptist Church, Sylva, North Carolina.

The Sergeant-at-Arms announces the approach of the Joint Committee of the House and Senate who comes into the auditorium, puruant to resolution heretofore adopted, acting as escort to Governor Sanford.

His Excellency, Governor Sanford, makes the following address to the Joint Session.

"Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly, citizens of Western North Carolina, and students from all across North Carolina and, indeed, the nation.

This is a day when Americans were scheduled to reach upward toward the stars and I think it was very appropriate that our legislative branch and officials of North Carolina should today come up to this Land of the Sky.

There was, as a great many of you will remember, a time when it took all day and most of the night to get from Raleigh up to here. In those days you had to point your T-Model somewhere in the general direction of the west and go through South Carolina and Georgia in order to get to Cullowhee.

There was a time, and I put emphasis on there was a time, when this area was closer to the capitals of South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee than to Raleigh. But today you can fly from here to Raleigh in an hour, or you can drive it in six hours and not violate the safety program. Or, as our legislators, can tell you, you can take a nice leisurely overnight train trip, doing your work and getting a good night's rest on the way up here.

And thanks to the rapid advances in communications, you can, in a matter of seconds, communicate from here to Raleigh—as the people in the Budget Bureau and the Highway Building know.

Today as you know, Cooper and the officials of NASA are still reaching for the stars. And the General Assembly too is still reaching for the accomplishments which will help develop North Carolina's great potential. As we reach, I think it is well to remind ourselves that the problems and the opportunities which face one part of North Carolina are the problems and the opportunities of all of North Carolina.

I hold a strong conviction that the problems and the opportunities which face the tourist industry in these western counties should be the concern of eastern and piedmont counties.

The harvests and the failures of the cabbage and corn crops are of considerable importance to you here of course, and also to the textile workers of Kannapolis and Concord, Greensboro and Burlington.

The number of tourists who drive the Blue Ridge Parkway, across the roof of North Carolina, has a strong correlation to the number who drive down the new History Highway on the Atlantic Coast.

The food processing plants up here have given farmers and businessmen of Eastern North Carolina some good pointers.

On the other side of the coin, you who live and work in this area are adversely affected when the waves of the ocean erode the Outer Banks. It takes a little longer for you to feel those waves and that loss, but you will feel them.

When the looms are stopped in the Piedmont, because of improper foreign competition, when cancer scares threaten the tobacco plants of the farms of Pitt and Lenoir and the factories of Forsyth and Durham and Rockingham, the economy of these western counties suffers. And, indeed, as we look now to your problems and your opportunities, I am convinced absolutely that the problems of the Appalachian are the problems of the State of North Carolina and we take them seriously.

In short, the Town of Jackson down East and the County of Jackson up here rise or fall together; Nags Head and Nantahala are in the tourist business together; the distance between Manteo and Murphy is an ever narrowing one.

I would say to the citizens of this section that your representatives and your senators are well aware of this unity of purpose and unity of opportunity. I could call their names one by one, and say that they understand and that they are representing all of North Carolina and that their work and their contributions indicate that they understand that all of North Carolina will stand or fall as we stand together.

There is no longer any place for sectionalism. There is no longer one part playing the state off against the other. Indeed, if we are going to reach our opportunities as we can, we need to do it working together.

These members of the General Assembly—I say to you who live here and to you students—are people who are dedicated and who are working diligently every day and almost every night to develop North Carolina's future to give everybody a better opportunity to earn a better living and to have a better life to give young people a chance to have the kind of education which will enable them to compete with young people from any part of the world. These are the people who have laid those plans, these are the people who are fulfilling those programs.

These are the men who are accelerating the drive for new and diversified industry to improve the economy of our state.

These are the men who are considering ways to improve and enhance the third largest income producing industry in our state—the tourist industry.

These are the men who made possible more secondary road funds during the last two years than in any two years since Governor Scott's road bond program. In the counties, that compose the group we usually consider Western North Carolina, you may be interested in knowing that more than $8 million was spent in the last two years on secondary roads alone. Translate that into mileage, that means 245 miles of paving and 535 miles of improvement and we are just beginning to demonstrate by stopping diversion, and by more careful economy that we can continue to speed up road building progress and we are going to do all we can to help you through road construction to open up this country and improve the economy.

Most important, these are the people helping in education, the ultimate denominator of all of North Carolina. These are the men who lifted high in 1961, and who are lifting still higher in 1963, the educational opportunities of all the boys and all the girls in all the counties of North Carolina.

It is right that today's Joint Session of the General Assembly should be held on a college campus. It is just about 96 hours since the lawmakers of North Carolina endowed every student in North Carolina.

The members of the 1963 General Assembly made that permanent endowment through adoption of the broadest based and the most far-reaching legislative act in all of the United States.

Benefits of this measure which was adopted with overwhelming approval on Friday, will be appreciated by many generations of North Carolinians and I believe the historians of this state will place the accomplishments of this General Assembly along with the provision of the Revolutionary Constitution of North Carolina providing for the University and later the establishment of colleges like Western Carolina and Appalachian.

This act is but part of North Carolina's 20th Century commitment to give its children the best possible opportunity to get ready for the competition of life.

Other measures reaffirming that commitment are now under careful consideration by the members of the General Assembly.

The representatives and senators are now considering a substantial increase in the public schools and our continuing drive to make our schools second to none.

For the first time in the history of our state, the entire budget requested by the State Board of Education, which carefuly screened all of the needs, has been approved by the Administration and the Advisory Budget Commission. The Chairman of the Board of Education was able to come to the Committee on Appropriations and say: 'We have nothing new to request because for the first time in all of the history of this state, education has been put in the absolutely first place.'

There are increased funds in the budget for Western Carolina and for the other senior colleges.

And we know of the influence of this college and Applachian. Asheville-Biltmore on Western North Carolina and we look to these institutions to provide the leadership to continue the progress to make North Carolina what it must be.

There is continued support in the budget for industrial education centers, which are meaning so much to so many, many students who for various reasons are not going on to college. You also will find appropriations to establish a strong basis for industrial education at the high school level. This is something that we have concerned ourselves with. Perhaps in paying attention to many other problems in the past we have not given adequate attention. I am satisfied that this General Assembly will write a new record and a new start for broader industrial and vocational opportunities for high school students.

There are funds for the mentally gifted children challenging them to do their utmost to make all the contributions that they can make to their state, because of their unusual abilities. And, incidentally, this program got its start right here on the campus of Western Carolina College.

There are steps under way to broaden the chances in life for the mentally retarded children. This Legislature is going to show that we have come to the place where we are going to remember these long forgotten children.

These are but a few items of North Carolina's number one purpose of education.

There are many other challenges and many other opportunities and many other things which the General Assembly will do to speed the progress of our state.

There is the proposed Space Center.

There is the important matter of democratic redistricting.

There is the vital question of traffic safety legislation.

There is the need for improving our mental health and hospital system.

There are the questions of farms, community planning, forests, recreation, wildlife, and water resources—altogether 1500 to 2000 questions contained in bills introduced in this session, to which attention is given every day by these distinguished legislative bodies.

This General Assembly is working for you. This General Assembly is working for all of the people of North Carolina. And I am satisfied that when the record is written, that this General Assembly will stand at the very top in contributions made to all of the people of North Carolina.

And I am very happy to have been associated with it.

Thank you very much."

After the Governor's address, on motion of Senator Scott the Joint Assembly dissolves and the House resumes consideration of its business.

Mr. Speaker Blue makes the following remarks:

"Ladies and Gentlemen:

This is a red letter day—yes, an historic occasion for the 1963 session of the General Assembly.

It is invigorating to be here in the hills and mountains of Western North Carolina where men grow great, where the women grow beautiful, and the weak grow strong.

Since legislation dealing with education beyond the high school may well be the capstone insofar as the 1963 session of the General Assembly is concerned, I feel that it is altogether fitting and proper that this meeting be held at Western North Carolina College, which is the capstone of higher education in Western North Carolina.

It is good to be here to see and observe your hills and mountains, your institutions, and your way of life. A few minutes ago, our great Governor, Terry Sanford, made mention of the fact that what is good for one section of the state is good for the state as a whole. I agree wholeheartedly with this sentiment. What is good for Western North Carolina is good for North Carolina.

Western North Carolina is a great section with many resources.

We appreciate and are not unmindful of the hearty pinoeers of Western North Carolina who felled the trees, erected schoolhouses for the education of their young, churches where they praised their Creator, and cemetaries where rest ashes of the dead.

It is great to be in Western North Carolina today. We appreciate your hospitality and your wonderful welcome and reception."

Section 3. This Resolution shall become effective upon its adoption.

By Representative Green:

A RESOLUTION COMMEMORATING THE 25th ANNIVERSARY OF THE ORGANIZATION OF THE BROWN CREEK SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT.

WHEREAS, The North Carolina General Assembly enacted the soil conservation districts law on March 22, 1937; and

WHEREAS, the first soil conservation district in America was organized August 4, 1937 to include the Brown Creek Watershed area, approximately 120,000 acres in Anson and Union Counties, North Carolina; and

WHEREAS, from this pioneering effort toward an organized movement to provide for the conservation of the soil and soil resources of this state, and for the control and prevention of soil erosion, and for the prevention of flood-water and sediment damages, and for furthering the conservation, utilization, and disposal of water, and the development of water resources and thereby to preserve natural resources, control floods, prevent impairment of dams and reservoirs, assist in maintaining the navigability of rivers and harbors, preserve wildlife, protect the tax base, protect public lands, and protect and promote the health, safety and general welfare of the people of this state, 73 soil and water conservation districts have been organized to include all the agricultural lands within our State and more than 29 districts have been organized throughout our nation to include in excess of 92% of all farm and ranch lands of the nation; and

WHEREAS, these districts represent millions of landowners within the nation using the democratic principles of self-government and local initiative to further the conservation, development and wise use of all our soil, water and related natural resources; and

WHEREAS, in North Carolina, the 429 local community leaders are rendering valuable service to their fellow man through their unselfish, dedicated, loyal service as soil and water conservation district supervisors. Serving without benefit of salary, these public servants have made quite an enviable record of accomplishments through their efforts to coordinate and implement the efforts of all citizens and groups properly interested in the conservation program. More than 15,000 such supervisors serve the nation in this capacity; and

WHEREAS, these efforts have been most effective in the development and conservation of the natural resources of our state; and

WHEREAS, the economic growth and industrial development of our state, as well as the welfare, safety and progress of all North Carolinians is dependent on the availability of any ample, useful supply of all natural resources; NOW THEREFORE,

Be it resolved that the 1963 Session of the North Carolina General Assembly does hereby commend the 429 soil and water conservation district supervisors throughout the state for their effective leadership in this grass roots conservation program. This General Assembly does hereby recognize that a productive soil and an abundant supply of useful water are among man's most priceless possession. Not only are they fundamental to successful farming, but our entire society is dependent on soil, water, forests and wildlife. Together they form the foundations of all civilization. Without them our state and nation would weaken, our way of life disappear.

This General Assembly does further take special note of the organization of the Brown Creek Soil Conservation District, the first such district in America, and to recognize the 25th anniversary of the organization of this district. We commend the leaders of this for their foresight in initiating a program so vital to the national welfare at a time when the nation was in grave danger of losing its position of leadership among the nations of the world due to the erosion, depletion and negligent waste of our natural resources.

We honor these great North Carolinians at the close of a quarter-century of progress and offer our best wishes and support at the beginning of another 25-year period; dedicated to the service of all the citizens of our great state and its abundant natural resources.

We thank Thee for the freedom that they sought, for the hand of God that was with them, and that God led them in a pillar of fire by night and in a pillar of a cloud by day. We thank Thee that they came to the promised land, and that the prophets gave them instructions on how to live. They were Thy chosen people.

We thank Thee that we can say that we are Thy chosen people.

Nine score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

We thank Thee that Thou didst give our forefathers grace and strength to write our Constitution and to give us our Declaration of Independence.

We thank Thee that Thou hast been with us through all the years, through cloud and sunshine, through war and peace and calamity. We thank Thee that Thou art with us today.

We ask Thy blessings on these, Thy servants, who serve in this body today. Give them, we pray Thee, wisdom as they work to solve the problems which come before them.

Forgive us now our sins, we pray, and lead us to glory, for we pray in the name of our Lord. Amen." (Taken from the Congressional Record, Page 8771, May 23, 1963.)

STATEMENT BY MEMBER

Mr. Speaker:

Pursuant to the amendment I offered I wish to make the following criticisms of H. B. 1—Senatorial Redistricting Bill.

1. Only 16 Senators come within 10,000 of the norm or average population for each Senator: 91,123; while in my amendment 47 of the total 50 Senators are within this normal range or average, 91,123.

Now under the amendment I am offering here, 23 Senators are within the norm or average, 91,123. While under the bill under discussion, 23 Senators are 20,000 or more out of the normal range, 91,123. Therefore, I maintain that the bill we are considering falls far short of the constitutional requirement as to population; while on the other hand, my amendment does meet logically and reasonably well this consideration of population which is required by the constitution.

The disproportionate representation under the Currie Bill is plainly shown by the following examples:

1. The Cap Stone of the Greater University of North Carolina is located at Chapel Hill in the 16th District, composed of Alamance and Orange Counties with a total population of 128,644 with only one Senator, which after subtracting the average, 91,123, leaves 37,521 people unrepresented or disproportionately represented. Again, in the 13th District, composed of Chatham, Lee and Wake Counties, with a total population of 221,928, only two Senators are assigned, which after proper subtractions have been made, leaves a remainder of 39,702 people unrepresented or disproportionately represented. Please remember that North Carolina State of the University of North Carolina and other institutions of higher learning are located in this District. Furthermore, the 17th District, Guilford County, with a total population of 246,520, has only two Senators assigned under H. B. 1, which after proper subtractions, leaves 64,294 people unrepresented or disproportionately represented. Here in Guilford County, you are aware that the 3rd Division of the Greater University of North Carolina is located, as well as 5 other colleges of higher learning. Moreover, in the 20th District, Mecklenburg County, with a total population of 272,111, only two Senators are assigned, which after proper subtractions, leaves 89,885 people unrepresented or disproportionately represented. In this county also are growing institutions of higher learning with a high personnel of voting strength. Do the advocates of this bill realize the implications of such a gross neglect of the people in these proposed Senatorial Districts, particularly since it is in these districts that we have long had efficient, and in some cases, outstanding schools or departments of Political Science and Government? Do the proponents of this bill think they can live with a setup such as this?

I repeat: a big segment of our people is unrepresented or, to say the least, disproportionately represented by reason of the indefensible fact that their district, in Mecklenburg County for example, contains 89,885 more people than the constitution provides for.

In the case of District 14, containing Durham, Granville and Person Counties, with two Senators the norm or average, 91,123 has been more logically and reasonably conformed to, in that one Senator represents 80,744, but which under the constitution is 20,740 more than the constitutional provision as to population allows.

STATEMENT OF MEMBER

My original bill didn't change the non-partisan County School Board, except as to staggering their terms and allowing the two highest in the primary to go to the general election. The County School Board is not a dispute in Randolph County—an election on it will only put it into politics.

The referendum in my original bill only asked for a vote as to the election of county officials.

The Committee amendment changes my bill so much to the opposite that I can't support it. I ask you, Ladies and Gentlemen, to vote against it.

I will take this stand for the record—so it will show that I am opposed to the provisions of the bill as now written.

STATEMENT OF MEMBER

"I favored the bill as originally introduced but it was given an unfavorable report by the Finance Committee and the only way it could be placed on the Calendar for consideration by the House was with the amendment.

I favor increasing the exemptions immediately, but rather than have nothing in the way of tax relief I favor the bill, as amended, which might give us some tax relief in 1964. With a surplus of over a hundred twenty five million dollars including receiving revenue the Legislature should give tax relief and in my opinion increasing exemptions for dependents will help practically every family group in North Carolina".

A RESOLUTION DIRECTING THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL TO STUDY AND INVESTIGATE THE STATE HIGHWAY PATROL AND ITS OPERATIONS AND TO MAKE A REPORT CONCERNING SAME TO THE 1965 GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

WHEREAS, a sub-committee of the Highway Safety Committee has made a study of the operations of the State Highway Patrol, which study has resulted in the following findings of fact:

(a) There is no direct arrest quota system within the Patrol, but there does exist indirect methods of production results, such as comparing patrolmen, which encourages competition in the number of arrests made;

(b) Production pressure leads to frivolous or borderline arrests, made in order to qualify for merit pay raises;

(c) There is insufficient personal supervision over an individual patrolman's work, since approximately 75% of a Sergeant's time is used to make up reports, and seldom, if ever does a superior officer give personal supervision to an individual patrolman;

(d) Too much emphasis is placed on efforts to obtain national ratings with the International Association of Chiefs of Police, with whom the big measure of accomplishment is number of arrests and percentage of convictions;

(e) There is wide dissatisfaction with the present retirement system because some patrolmen that should be retired cannot do so because of insufficient retirement pay;

(f) There is much dissatisfaction with the merit pay raise system because no consideration is given to longevity, and the merit pay system leads to competitive production quotas between patrolmen to the detriment of the motoring public and highway safety; and

WHEREAS, the foregoing findings of fact were approved by the Highway Safety Committee; NOW, THEREFORE,
Be it resolved by the House of Representatives:

Section 1. The Legislative Council is directed to make, or cause to be made, a study of the State Highway Patrol and its operations, and to make a report concerning the same to the 1965 General Assembly.

Sec. 2. The study and report required by Section 1 shall include, but not be limited to, the following matters:

(a) The proper marking of all patrol cars, including staff cars;

(b) The present retirement system, including the method of recommending pay raises, and longevity:

(c) Supervision on the part of the Commissioner, and commissioned and non-commissioned officers over patrolmen below their respective ranks, including schools for sergeants, and relieving sergeants of clerical duties;

(d) Elimination of borderline arrests made to obtain pay raises, or to compete with other groups;

(e) The use of more discretion in marking arrests in the interests of highway safety, and without regard to a competitive quota or salary increases.

Sec 3. This Resolution shall become effective upon its adoption.

On motion of Representative Ramsey of Person the resolution is adopted.

REPORT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE LEGISLATIVE BUILDING COMMISSION.

Pursuant to Sub-Paragraph (g) of Section 2 of Chapter 938, Session Laws of 1959, the State Legislative Building Commission makes the following report:

Four and one-half million dollars was appropriated by the 1959 Assembly and one million dollars by the 1961 General Assembly. The State Legislative Building has been completed and furnished; $116,220.00 is in reserve for the purpose of purchasing automatic voting equipment. By means of S. R. 663 introduced at the 1963 Session of the General Assembly and pending at the time this report is made, an effort has been made to determine the wishes of the General Assembly as to whether or not the Senate or the House of Representatives desires the Building Commission to proceed with the installation of automatic electric voting machines. As of the date of and time of submitting this report, this question has not been determined. In this connection, additional furniture and furnishings are necessary and, to a small degree, additional landscaping.

The Legislative Building was completed in Januray 1963, equipped and furnished, and made ready for occupancy by the 1963 General Assembly; this has been done within the appropriations made. The building was occupied by the 1963 General Assembly, beginning February 6, 1963.

A commission has been appointed by the General Assembly to make plans and fix the date for the dedication of the building.

STATEMENT BY MEMBER

Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House, my appearance here today stems from approximately a half century's sincere interest in the welfare and happiness of the children of our beloved State and Country. I fully believe that "every child born upon earth has a right to burgeon out all that is within him"; furthermore, I believe that every child has a right to be intelligently counseled and guided as to the God-given talents with which he is endowed. In conformity to this belief, some 30 years ago I was attempting to teach at Vocational Guidance as a public school teacher in Durham County. My inadequate work at that time was with the seniors in the High School. Later I went into the Veterans Administration Hospital at Oteen as a Vocational Advisor, where for 14 years I counseled and advised some 47,000 tubercular veterans east of the Mississippi River who had been in three World Wars. This work included verterans, Wacs, and Waves as well as nurses who caught the disease while in service of their country. It was while I was in this work that I came to realize more fully than ever before the real meaning of vocational guidance, as well as the outstanding need for same in our elementary and junior high school grades. This by reason of the fact that we have many, many unhappy people in life who are attempting to do jobs for which they have little if any ability, aptitude or interest; and further by reason of the fact that they have had little or no intelligent vocational guidance during their attendance in the public schools of our country. This to me is a tragic situation and this resolution is occasioned by a sincere desire to help remedy the situation.

I thank you,

s/ Hardy Carroll III

EDWIN J. HAMLIN,
A Member of the

1963 General Assembly

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto signed my name and affixed the Great Seal of State at the Capitol in the City of Raleigh, this

Sworn to and subscribed before me
this 14th day of October, 1963.
/s/ Thad Eure
Secretary of State"

Mr. Speaker Blue makes the following remarks:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

In response to a resolution passed on the final day of the 1963 Session of the General Assembly, we have met here today at the call of Governor Sanford, that we may again take up the unfinished business of Senatorial re-districting which we failed to accomplish while in regular session earlier this year.

Some people say, 'why all the talk over re-districting when the General Assembly in past years has failed to re-district?'

The reason is clear and simple.

First, our North Carolina Constitution says we shall re-district the State Senate after each enumeration of census ordered by Congress. This we are sworn to do. This, we have not done.

Another clear reason:

In recent months the Federal Courts have started taking a hand in State re-apportionment and re-districting. Whenever a State legislature fails to live up to its responsibilities and obligations, in re-districting and other matters, it then becomes, whether you like it or not, and many do not, a clear invitation for the Federal government to step in, and when it does, our state position is weakened and the centralization of powers in Washington strengthened.

I realize it is not easy to work out a re-districting bill.

But, ladies and gentlemen of the House, our obligation and our responsibility is clear—yes, crystal clear.

We must work out a reasonable senatorial re-districting bill which will satisfy our North Carolina Constitution under which we serve.

As we approach this serious matter, I am sure that this House will measure up to its responsibilities without undue delay.

I hope and strongly recommend that no bills other than legislation dealing with re-districting be introduced, or considered, for once one bill is passed, Pandora's box will be open.

The eyes of our people are upon us.

We cannot, we must not fail them."

SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER
October 14, 1963

The Joint Assembly is called to order by Mr. President Stone. The Joint Committee of the House and Senate comes into the Hall of the House acting as escort to Governor Sanford.

Senator Scott presents Governor Sanford to President Stone and Mr. Speaker Blue. Governor Sanford is then presented to the Joint Session and makes the following address:

ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR TERRY SANFORD
SPECIAL SESSION OF THE 1963 GENERAL ASSEMBLY

"As you return to a Special Session, I have the opportunity to express to you as a group my gratitude for your help to me and for your contributions to the forward progress of North Carolina during the regular 1963 session. There has seldom been a session of the General Assembly which provided so well for education, and never a session which provided so well for higher education, with new funds for faculties, with support for new and improved programs in an age of increasing complexities, and with a blueprint for the future of our University and colleges which forever will mark an upward turning point in the history of North Carolina.

There were many other accomplishments, for those in need of mental health treatment, and especially a comprehensive program of hope for our long-forgotten children, the retarded. Because of your work and devotion there is a new vitality about our State, and many generations will profit from your good works.

We did not do everything that we might have done, but it is a mighty record of solid achievement. I am proud of your record. I hope all North Carolinians will understand these accomplishments.

We did leave undone the little matter of re-districting the Senate.

Things became so harried and hurried and confused in the closing weeks, with so many important programs and policies being developed, that we just could not adequately wrap up this one responsibility.

I well understand, and I believe those who have been close to the scene well understand, that the majority has always intended to meet this responsibility. That you did, is best expressed by your resolution, passed in the waning hours of the Regular Session, requesting the Governor to call a Special Session because the General Assembly, in your phrase, had 'been unable to agree on the provisions of an Act to re-district the State Senate, as required by the Constitution of North Carolina.'

I have complied with that request, and I have welcomed the chance over the summer, with calmness and care, to work with most of you in preparing for the final action we have come to take.

The constitutional duty of the Governor is to state the purpose of this Special Session, and to recommend the action which he believes should be taken.

That is a very easy duty. I will report to you what you already know, and recommend an action which I am sure you already are prepared to take. My report and recommendations are best wrapped up in the words of your resolution which I have already quoted, 'to re-district the State Senate, as required by the Constitution of North Carolina.'

You and I, in preparing for this session, have indeed been guided by the constitutional mandate that 'each Senate District shall contain, as near as may be, an equal number of inhabitants.' During these several months I have met both formally and informally with many of you. We have discussed, considered, adjusted and agreed in order to get the job done.

Our plan, the consensus bill I call it because so many had a hand in its formulation, cannot be completely pleasing to everyone. It is the result of conscientious resolve to follow the Constitution regardless of all other considerations, political, personal, regional. Some of you doubtless cannot return because of the new plan, but this has not caused you to shirk your duty.

The Districts have not been redrawn for more than twenty years, and this same period has seen the greatest changes in our population. These facts have forced us to present a bill which makes substantial changes in our Senatorial District boundaries. The result has been that almost every District has been redrawn. In spite of this degree of adjustment required, our legislators have cooperated in the true spirit of North Carolina and we are able to present a bill which has the majority support in both houses of the General Assembly.

I do not know whether there can be a constitutional amendment which will satisfy the necessary three-fifths majority. A number of proposals were discussed during the Regular Session. In the course of working out the re-districting bill submitted today, a questionnaire was sent to each legislator. From this it became apparent that there was much sentiment for constitutional change, but wide variation as to what the change should be.

I think some constitutional amendment is justified. We could use some guide lines for setting up Districts better than the present terse, 'as near as may be' equal in population. Also, I think it would be to our benefit to have some provision for 'automatic' re-districting in the future. This could mean a commission authorized to draw the lines, to present it to the General Assembly to become final after ninety days, for example, if not amended by the General Assembly. Or we could provide that a commission would take over if the first session after the official census failed to redistrict. Both of these proposals would leave the duty with the Legislature but would eliminate many headaches for future legislators and governors.

As to other forms, I have no recommendations at this time.

Whatever you do about amending the Constitution we cannot let our desire to improve it prevent us from following our clear and present duty under the present Constitution.

A bill to do this, 'to re-district the State Senate, as required by the Constitution of North Carolina,' has been signed by a majority in each of the houses.

I trust you will pass it into law with dispatch."

After the Governor's address, on motion of Senator Scott the Joint Assembly dissolves, the Senate repairs to its Chamber and the House resumes consideration of its business.
